PERFORM AT AQUACADE

The Kelowna Gymnastic Club is shown going through their paces during Wednesday night's aquacade performance at the Ogoogo Pool in Kelowna City Park. The event presented every Wednesday at the pool during July and August, except during Regatta week, features tumbling events, swimming and Red Cross water safety demonstrations. The show begins at 7:30 p.m. and concludes about one hour later. Jack Brown, physical fitness instructor with the Kelowna Parks and Recreation Commission, is director of the show. (Courier photo).

Teamsters Want Contract Before Returning To Jobs

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 400 Teamsters involved in a long strike-lockout in the British Columbia cement industry Wednesday night rejected the B.C. government's moves to get them back to work.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson Tuesday gave both sides in the dispute 10 days in which to resume work and held over their heads the threat of compulsory back-to-work orders if work does not resume.

Teamsters president Ed Lawson said the men will not go back without a new contract unless ordered back by the government. "If we are ordered back we will obey the order."

Earlier, the B.C. and Yukon Building Trades Council said eight unions in the construction industry will not go back to work without new contracts. Contractors lifted their lengthy lockout.

Mr. Lawson said there was confusion in press reports Tuesday as to whether Mr. Peterson said he had ordered the men back to work or whether he said he would order them. The reports said he had ordered them.

Said Mr. Lawson: "We were in contact with him... and he made it clear there has been no order. He said he has given the industry 10 days to get going and will consider making an order after that time if the men are not back to work."

However, Mr. Peterson, told earlier of the stand taken by the construction unions, said: "I expect construction to resume within 10 days, period. No ifs, buts or maybes."

Mr. Peterson said that after the 10-day period, all parties will have another 60 days in which to reach agreement. The government could order arbitration after that.

Five of the construction unions are to resume talks today with the Construction Labor Relations Association, which bargains for 600 firms and started locking out unions in mid-April, affecting 25,000 men.

The Teamsters are involved in a separate dispute with British Columbia's two major cement suppliers, in the Vancouver area. That strike-lockout started April 3.

VOTE AGAINST
After Mr. Peterson's press conference Tuesday, Mr. Lawson said members would be advised to return to work within the 10-day period. They rejected this in a vote Wednesday; no details were given.

The construction unions said they will not accept arbitration and were promised support by the B.C. Federation of Labor, which said it is "keeping in close touch daily with the construction unions."

Mr. Peterson Wednesday named a mediation officer in a wage dispute involving 5,000 men and Cominco Ltd. Then, a few hours later, he withdrew the appointment. The United Steelworkers of America reported.

Bob Kellner, union representative, said in Trail that the company and the union had considered the appointment of Clive McKee premature since no strike votes had been held.

MEN TO VOTE
Employees are to start conducting strike votes today. They seek a 22-per-cent wage increase in two years on a base rate of $3 an hour. The company offered 12 per cent.

United Steelworkers of America members employed by the Aluminium Co. of Canada voted Wednesday night to return to work immediately after a 24-hour disruption caused when workers refused to cross a picket line.

The company reported a full shift reported for duty at midnight.

The union denied any responsibility for setting up the picket line. Alcan Wednesday was granted a court injunction banning illegal picketing and the back-to-work vote followed. Picketing followed extension of the term of a mediation officer. W. R. Freeborn's jurisdiction expires Tuesday night and there can be no legal strike or lockout while he's in office.

SEEK $1.17
The 2,000 men seek an hourly pay increase of $1.17 in two years on an average rate of $3.8 Alcan, which has operations at Kitimat and Kemano, offered 60.9 cents.

There was no sign of a break Wednesday in the wage stalemate involving 6,000 pulp workers and the B.C. pulp industry. Talks broke off Tuesday and the two unions involved arranged to hold strike votes.

Nor was there any sign of progress in the wage strike of 300 workers at 20 Vancouver hotels or the lockout of about 800 workers by more than 35 hotels in the Fraser Valley.

In the coast forest industry, Mr. Justice Nathan Nemetz of B.C. Court of Appeals, takes office July 20 to mediate a wage dispute involving 28,000 wood workers and 116 forest companies.

In the Interior, B.C. forest industry, the International Woodworkers of America said members employed at Celgar operations in Nakusp and Castlegar have voted almost 95 per cent for a strike.

He said the U.S. has not asked Canada for anything in return. It was seeking an international program rather than trying to bargain.

The U.S. proposal was put forward at a meeting here last December by Thomas O. Palne, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It has been under study since January by a special committee headed by Dr. D. W. R. McKinley of the National Research Council.

One informant said the committee has not completed assessment of the proposal and has formulated no proposal for the federal cabinet.

Postal Talks Are Fouled Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Postal union and treasury board negotiators missed their appointment to resume bargaining this morning and in the confusion no one knew whom to blame.

A Treasury board official said the talks were to begin at 10:30 a.m.

By noon, however, there had still been no sign of the union leaders at the treasury board offices.

At the council headquarters, a spokesman said there appeared to have been a misunderstanding about the meeting. He wondered whether the treasury board negotiators themselves had agreed on the time. The mixup left both sides unclear whether they would meet at all during the day.

In Quebec, post offices were reopened after being closed Wednesday. Montreal postal workers returned to their jobs from a two-day walkout.

In New Brunswick post offices were closed today in Edmundston, Grand Falls and Campbellton "for lack of work," a post office spokesman said.

The 24-mundston and Grand Falls post offices did not open at all Thursday. The Campbellton office stayed closed at noon.

The rotating strikes closed Toronto-area post offices at Newmarket, Aurora and Georgetown as 105 men stayed off the job.

Forty men are affected by the close-downs in New Brunswick. District postal officials have been authorized to close post offices when the strikes make adequate service impossible.

40 YEARS TODAY
Premier W. A. C. Bennett today marks the 40th anniversary of his arrival in Kelowna. The provincial premier is in town now and will hold his annual garden party Saturday, then returns to Victoria Monday. The Social Credit leader arrived in Kelowna from Alberta on this date in 1930, was soon in the hardware business and provincial politics. Hundreds of guests are expected at the premier's garden party, held at his Ethel Street residence, between 2 and 5 p.m. Saturday.

Vietnam Troop Withdrawal To Be Speeded Up By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird announced today a speed-up in the withdrawal of United States troops from South Vietnam.

Laird told a news conference that more than 50,000 American servicemen will be withdrawn by Oct. 15, and that U.S. forces in South Vietnam will go below the 384,000 troop ceiling projected by President Nixon for mid-October.

"We will beat that troop ceiling on Oct. 15," the defence secretary said.

He declined to say how many additional American troops will be out of South Vietnam by that date.

Asked whether this speed-up means that more than 150,000 Americans will be withdrawn by spring, as Nixon has pledged, Laird said: "We will meet or beat that, too."

He did not say what has made possible the accelerated schedule, but has said repeatedly in the recent past that what he called the success of the U.S. and South Vietnamese attacks on Communist command bases in Cambodia would permit stepped-up withdrawals of U.S. forces.

Turning to other matters, Laird said the Soviet Union is going forward with construction of additional sites for big SS-9 intercontinental ballistic missiles, as well as other Soviet ICBMs.

Reports have circulated recently that the Russians have stopped deploying additional intercontinental missiles since last year, a factor which could have bearing on the strategic arms-limitation talks in Vienna.

Laird said the Soviets have gone forward with their missile program since those talks started.

30 Refugees Die In Attack
VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) — North Vietnamese troops killed 30 refugees, mostly women and children, in an attack on Phou Cum refugee village, Laotian military sources reported today.

Three Laotian military personnel visiting relatives in the village 18 miles north of the Plain of Jars, also were killed, the sources said.

They said the North Vietnamese burned the village to the ground.

Young Folks On Royal Tour Have Night Out

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — The young folks on the royal tour had a night out Wednesday, taking in a beach party barbecue, while their parents attended a more formal affair.

Prince Charles, 21, and Princess Anne, 19, turned up at McNivan Beach on the shores of Great Slave Lake for a casual stroll among other young people.

But the stroll lasted only long enough for them to be recognized and be engulfed by the crowd, mainly as young and hip as any similar group.

The only way to keep track of the prince and princess, who were separated for most of their hour-long stay, was to watch the swarming masses of young people.

For every camera-bug, every stargazer, every admirer, there was opportunity galore. There was little jostling with the crowd apparently content simply to be near the royal pair.

EATS HAMBURGER
Charles, who munched at a hamburger and later sipped at a soft drink from a cardboard carton as he strolled, asked one of the youngsters crowding him why he wasn't eating. Then in mock horror clutched his stomach and said:

"This thing must be poisonous. I've made a mistake."

HAS 24 HELPERS
Mr. Bolduc said the information from the recorder is in addition to facts his team of 24 investigators gathered for an interim report released Tuesday by Transport Minister Don Jamieson.

Mr. Jamieson's report said the flight was normal until within 100 feet of touchdown on the airport runway when the plane's descent became "abnormally steep."

The plane was en route to Los Angeles from Montreal when it crashed before coming in for a stopover here. There were no survivors.

PINCHI LAKE FISH CONTAIN MERCURY
VICTORIA (CP) — Conservation Minister Ken Klensan said today fish in Pinchi Lake, about 80 miles northwest of Prince George, have been found to contain unsafe levels of mercury and fishermen have been advised not to eat them.

Mr. Klensan said mercury levels in the flesh of 20 fish taken from the lake in recent months were found consistently to exceed the .5 part per million content recommended by Canadian public health authorities as the safe level for human consumption.

Levels in lake trout ranged from about two to four parts per million, while lower but generally unsafe levels were found in whitefish and rainbow trout.

CARRIED MACHINE GUNS
The exact contents of the safe and boxes was not known, he said, but valuable shipments have been increased since postal disputes began hampering mail delivery.

Last November, three armed men disguised as railway workers raided a CNR baggage car in Montreal's Central Station and escaped with $309,000 in cash and bonds.

Armed men took $85,000 in cash from a CNR train at south shore St. Lambert in August, 1967.

The spokesman said the company would have to check with shippers, possibly including banks, to discover the extent of the loss.

A provincial police spokesman said Wednesday night the money might have been part of a payroll due in Chicoutimi today.

The train was on a regular 225-mile run from Montreal to Chicoutimi.

Still Burning Out Of Control

By JOE DARY
Courier Staff

"Outright stupidity" on the part of a fisherman who left his campfire improperly extinguished Wednesday afternoon is the cause of a 600-acre forest fire that is burning out of control.

Kelowna forest ranger Frank Pearce said today evidence gathered by deputy ranger J. H. Ivens, who was on the scene shortly after the fire was reported at 2:30 p.m. by five area lookout stations, indicated the campfire had been poorly extinguished.

"When the men reached the scene, the embers were still warm," Mr. Pearce said.

"At first, we thought we could have the fire contained quickly, but the warm weather and the extreme hazard rating helped the fire to explode and extend quickly."

Within four hours of the initial report, the flames had spread to cover 400 acres, and were fanned by 15 mph winds.

NEAR TREE FARM
The blaze is located near the S. M. Simpson Sawmills tree farm, in a remote section of the Kamloops forest district, in which the Kelowna ranger station is located.

There are few access roads in the Raymer Lake area, located about 10 miles northeast of Brenda Mines.

"The fire spread from the initial guard the fisherman built, spread along the ground to nearby grass then to the trees."

"Within two hours, she was long gone," Mr. Pearce said.

Three Avenger water bombers, based in Kamloops, were diverted from another fire in the district to the Kelowna fire and were joined later in the afternoon by three more Avengers.

Each aircraft is capable of carrying a payload of 500 gallons of retardant, a chemical substance with water to reduce the flames and takes approximately four minutes for the aircraft to reload.

HELICOPTER
Also on the scene were one helicopter borrowed from the Nelson forest district, and one "bird-dogger," the man who guides the water bombers into the target area for the drops.

Twenty-five to 30 men fought the fire Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Pearce said.

This figure has since grown to 65 men today.

B.C. Forest Service personnel had a problem of transporting equipment to the scene as the area is broken and extremely rocky, Mr. Pearce said.

Fourteen bulldozers have been posted to the fire to construct a guard and attempt to contain the blaze.

"It will take some time to construct the guard, and there is little chance we can have the fire under control today," Mr. Pearce said.

He added the tankers were removed from service this morning because "we pushed them hard," Wednesday.

Flight Recorder Revealing Clues To Cause Of Crash

TORONTO (CP) — An investigation official said Wednesday night that a flight recorder aboard the Air Canada Super DC-8 that carried 108 persons to their death Sunday is revealing some clues as to the cause of the crash.

"We are starting to get some indications of what happened," said Richard Bolduc, head of a federal government investigating team. "We are starting to put a few things together."

However, Mr. Bolduc would not reveal the contents of the shock-proof recorder.

The recorder, a small digital computer, records in code a wide range of information every second the airplane is in flight, including cockpit conversation between crew members. It was recovered dented but intact from the crash scene four miles north of Toronto International Airport.

HAS 24 HELPERS
Mr. Bolduc said the information from the recorder is in addition to facts his team of 24 investigators gathered for an interim report released Tuesday by Transport Minister Don Jamieson.

Mr. Jamieson's report said the flight was normal until within 100 feet of touchdown on the airport runway when the plane's descent became "abnormally steep."

Masked Bandits Rob Train

L'ASSOMPTION, Que. (CP) — At least four masked bandits armed with machine guns staged a 90-second raid on a CNR passenger train here Wednesday night and escaped with a safe and boxes containing an undetermined amount of cash and money orders.

A CNR spokesman said a diesel helper was shot in the hand when two of the bandits leaped into the engine cabin as the 13-car train made its regular stop at this community 15 miles east of Montreal. The injured man was released from hospital today.

While the bandits forced the engineer and the wounded man from the engine, two or three men surprised a clerk in the baggage car, the spokesman said.

The clerk was armed with a pistol but was alone in the car and "didn't want a shoot-out."

The men carried the safe and boxes to a waiting car and fled.

"The whole thing took about a minute and a half," the spokesman said.

"The passengers didn't know what had happened until well after the men had left."

PLAN RAIDS
In Montreal, Sgt. Albert Lisacek of the provincial police holdup squad said raids would be carried out today in an effort to locate suspects.

"We know who did it," he said, "and if we had received notice in time we would have caught them with their pants down."

He said no road blocks were set up although one trainman had given a description of the getaway car.

The holdup occurred at about 9:30 p.m. shortly after darkness fell.

Meanwhile, CNR officials were attempting to determine the amount of cash stolen and the value of the money orders, the spokesman said.

The exact contents of the safe and boxes was not known, he said, but valuable shipments have been increased since postal disputes began hampering mail delivery.

Last November, three armed men disguised as railway workers raided a CNR baggage car in Montreal's Central Station and escaped with $309,000 in cash and bonds.

B.C. School Boards Urged To Hold Increases Down

Education Minister Donald Brocks said Wednesday he has sent letters to all British Columbia school boards urging them to hold 1971 budget increases down to the six per cent guideline set by the federal provinces income commission. Brocks, in effect, is being told to hold operating costs at around 108 per cent of the previous year's budget. Under the education finance formula, boards are entitled to go as high as 110 per cent of the previous year's budget. If they want to go higher they must get approval in a referendum from ratepayers. Mr. Brocks said the federal government has specified hospitals and education as areas where spending should be curbed. He Campbell, president of the B.C. School Trustees Association, said Wednesday school boards can be expected to adhere to the six per cent guideline because they have no control over increases in teacher salaries and the cost of materials and services.

... re-elected

The first general assembly of the Organization of American States set into motion Wednesday a hemisphere-wide effort to cope with political terrorism and the kidnapping of foreign diplomats in Latin America. An 11-man committee was elected to define within 120 days the legal means by which the 23 countries composing the alliance can curb the kidnappings and the attendant subversion. The assembly also gave Secretary-General Galo Plaza a new five-year term but barred his re-election in 1975.

Police Wednesday searched for the bodies of a woman and her daughter, killed with another daughter Tuesday when a car plunged over a 60-foot embankment into the Kalam River near Terrace. Killed were Elizabeth Wright, 40, of the Nass River area, and her daughter, 13, and Katerina, 4. Katerina's body was found in the car on a sandbar in the river. The accident was discovered after a passerby reported seeing broken bush on the bank.

A Vancouver couple was charged after RCMP seized 150 marijuana plants and eight ounces of hashish in a raid on a house. Glen Bellamy, 25, was charged with possession of LSD, hashish and marijuana, cultivating marijuana and possessing hashish for trafficking. His wife Linda, 23, was charged with possession of marijuana and hashish and possession of hashish for trafficking.

Lawyer Dennis Novak, 45, of Vancouver has been committed for trial on a charge of possessing stolen money orders. The charge was laid after police seized 41 $250 money orders and $2,000 cash. The money orders were allegedly stolen in a safe-cracking at a trust company office in West Vancouver.

Contempt proceedings against Frank Howard, NDP MP for Skeena, were adjourned indefinitely Wednesday after it was determined that he has been making interim alimony payments to his estranged wife. Judith Howard started the action, alleging court-ordered payments had not been made. Each is suing for divorce.

A 22-year-old Canadian, who said Wednesday that Canada is a "colony" of the United States has been elected one of two North American representatives of the steering committee of the United Nations Youth Assembly which opens today. Gordon Cleveland of Toronto, and a Jamaican girl were named representatives of the three countries in the North American group. The United States delegation decided not to put up a candidate.

Attorney-General Arthur Wishart of Ontario said Wednesday that "misstatements in the press" have prompted him to seek a public inquiry into the association between senior provincial police officers and George Duke, an Oakville, Ont., businessman. Mr. Wishart told a news conference he will ask Premier John Robarts on his return from a trip to Japan to order the inquiry which he hoped could begin in three weeks.

Britain's bachelor prime minister, Edward Heath, has brought in an attractive woman interior decorator to do over his new home at 10 Downing St. His only instruction to Jo Patrick was to make a real home for him in the private apartments at the headquarters of British prime ministers. Former prime minister Harold Wilson and his wife vacated the premises last month after the Labor party's defeat at the polls.

A 25-year-old woman who lost the sight of one eye after taking birth control pills sued the manufacturers Wednesday for $2,000,000. The suit was filed in New York state Supreme Court in New York against Syntex Laboratories by a lawyer for Corra Johnson of Salisbury, Md., who worked in a chicken processing plant until losing the sight of her right eye in July 1967.

A male trade unionist and a female lawyer told women dieticians Wednesday they are underpaid because they have failed to form unions or work to establish themselves as professionals. The unionist is H. M. Larsen of the Professional Institute of Public Service of Canada and the lawyer is Donna Haley, a legal representative of the Canadian Dietetic Association. They were addressing a joint convention of the Canadian Dietetic Association and the Canadian Home Economics Association in Toronto.

The Canadian government today presented a boat for offshore research in marine biology to Japan's Emperor Hirohito, a well-known biologist, the Canadian embassy announced today. The embassy said the gift was a commemorative link between successive world exhibitions in 1967 at Montreal and in 1970 at Osaka.

Senator Lee Metcalf called today for an investigation into who owns and controls the United States. The Montana Democrat introduced a bill to set up an 11-member Senate special committee to investigate economic and financial concentration. Concentration of economic power and financial control among major United States industries and financial institutions justify an investigation, Metcalf said.

A study of sexual frequency among other things may yield clues that will help the Le Dain drug inquiry understand what makes individuals dependent. It is just one of many studies under way or being interpreted by the commission research staff in Ottawa, executive secretary James J. Moore said in an interview Wednesday.

Study Of Queen's Finances Expected By Government

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen's finances, which Prince Philip said last year threatened to go into the red, are expected to be studied by the government. A special parliamentary committee is likely to be set up to make recommendations on the allowances on which the Royal Family depends for much of its income.

Philip caused a sensation during his visit to the United States last year when he revealed that rising costs were making it difficult for the Queen to meet all the expenses involved in running a royal household. Labor and Conservative members of Parliament clashed Wednesday night on the need to give the Queen a pay rise. Labor MP William Hamilton introduced a motion in the House of Commons saying that the time is not opportune to grant her more money.

Conservative Sir Gerald Nabarro quickly introduced an amendment calling for the establishment of a special committee to review the civil list—a catalogue of official government payments to the Royal Family—which has not been updated since 1932.

About a dozen Labor MPs supported Hamilton's motion, while Conservatives backed up Nabarro's amendment. The present level of public funds going to the Royal Family was set in 1932 at £475,000 ($1,187,500). Nabarro said the allowance would need to be increased to £800,000 ($2,000,000) a year to allow for the inflation which has occurred in the last 18 years.

Lady Eaton Dead At 90

TORONTO (CP) — Lady Eaton, matriarch of one of Canada's wealthiest families, died today. She was 90.

Born Florence McCrea, she married John Craig Eaton who later succeeded his father as president of T. Eaton Co. The couple had six children before he died in 1922.

An author and philanthropist, she was a former vice-president and director of Eatons. She retired in 1942, but continued an active social life until she became ill some time ago.

A native of Onemee, Ont., 10 miles west of Peterborough, she was an enthusiastic supporter of the arts, a number of social welfare organizations, horse and cattle breeding and gardening. In 1956, she wrote a book called Memory's Wall.

Eight years ago, she flew to Great Whale River and outposts of the North because of her interest in Indian and Eskimo affairs. During the Second World War, Lady Eaton opened her country estate in King Township to homeless English children and convalescent navy personnel.

SHIP REFUSES FOOD AND WATER

ALBANY, Australia (Reuters) — Port authorities here are puzzled by the inscrutable behavior of the 6,785-ton Chinese freighter Lin Tong which will not accept fresh food or water, won't allow a health officer on board, and will not go away.

The Chinese ship arrived here Monday to pick up a cargo of wheat ordered by Peking.

A load of fresh food, including three live ducks, was put at the foot of the gangway Wednesday after the Lin Tong signalled for stores and water. After several hours it was still untouched, and the supplier took it away.

Dock workers offered a fresh water hose, but the Lin Tong's crew refused to lower a rope to haul it on board. Soon afterward the ship hoisted two signal flags saying: "I require water."

The skipper was refused four times to allow health officers on board to make the routine check of the crew members required before they can be permitted ashore or port workers are allowed to board the vessel.

Officials, at a loss to know what to do, ordered the ship to leave its berth Wednesday because it is wanted for another grain ship. But the master refused to allow the port pilot aboard.

Prisoners In Tiger Cages Were Communist Criminals

SAIGON (Reuters) — The South Vietnamese government said today prisoners in so-called "tiger cages" on Con Son Island were "Communist criminals."

A statement from the national press centre neither denied nor confirmed press reports of bad prison conditions on the prison island, 140 miles southeast of Saigon in the South China Sea.

But in war circumstances, owing to the poor facilities of our nation, everything (at Con Son) cannot be performed exactly as the government wishes," the statement said.

"Nevertheless there have been many efforts for improving the re-education system. This has been confirmed."

The statement said that of more than 8,000 "criminals" at present held on Con Son only about 400 for disciplinary measures are "temporarily detained in separate quarters."

"They are neither political prisoners nor prisoners-of-war but Communist criminals," the statement said.

Conditions in the cells described as atrocious by two U.S. congressmen who visited the island last week.

The qualifications for a term in the cells were described by the South Vietnamese government as "having carried out investigations against the internal regulations of the re-education centre."

In answer to questions, the government spokesman said such investigations might include refusal to salute the South Vietnamese flag.

STOCK MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — A show of strength continued in light mid-morning trading today as the Toronto stock market posted a sharp gain.

On index, Industrials were up 1.06 to 150.89, base metals .20 to 88.68 and western oils 3.21 to 124.88. Golds dropped .09 to 158.75.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 355,000 shares, up from 284,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Ideas Studied For Centennial

A committee set up to plan ways for Kelowna to celebrate its part in B.C.'s centennial as a province in 1971 has narrowed its choice of projects down to six or eight.

After several weeks consideration, the committee has eliminated all but a few of the 55 suggestions submitted by Kelowna citizens for centennial projects.

"We are going to meet again Wednesday and this time bring some city officials in with us," today said Jack Simons, a committee member. "We want to check to see if the ideas fit in with future city plans, if they are economically feasible and so on."

Most of the projects eliminated were either of too narrow an interest—such as art galleries, a roller skating rink—or would cost too much or do not apply under centennial grant qualifications.

Such structures as a new library are beyond the scope of the centennial committee and would be the responsibility of the city; similar projects mentioned are also long-term and could not be completed by 1971, Mr. Simons said.

"We also are looking for things with a more general appeal; some of the suggestions were of too specific nature, such as art galleries."

The committee also eliminated activities in favor of more long-lasting projects. Such things as garden contests, essays and poster contests were among those suggested that had to be dropped.

"We're down to six or eight very probable things," Mr. Simons said. "We are progressing at a pretty good clip and within the next couple of weeks should have a decision made."

The committee's final ideas on a centennial project for Kelowna will be taken to city council, which will aid in paying for the project, for final consideration. The city also has a capital grant from the province.

600-ACRE FOREST FIRE

The crews worked all night trying to regain control of the inferno, to no avail.

No populated areas are threatened, but watersheds for major irrigation projects in the Bear Lake area have been affected.

At one time, the Provincial Alliance of Businessmen, a government agency that tries to find employment for the chronically unemployed, recruited men in the area for the fire.

ENOUGH MEN

"We now have enough men to contain the blaze for the time being, but if the fire gets going again, we may have to be recruiting more men," the ranger said.

He added if such outbreaks as the Rhymer Lake continue with frequency, the department "may be forced to close the woods for public recreational purposes."

"This is the type of fire that brings out the closures for which we are criticized," Mr. Pearce said.

Stuck Pedal Brings Fine

Driving a motor vehicle without a licence and without due care and attention cost a Kelowna woman $150 in fines in provincial court today.

Linda Baker pleaded guilty to two separate charges, one of which involved an estimated $2,000 damage when the gas pedal stuck on the vehicle she was backing out of an alley off Bernard Avenue and plowed into the Whillis and Harding Insurance Building Tuesday.

Failing to make written returns under the Unemployment Insurance Act, resulted in a fine of $250 to Interior Traders (Kelowna) Ltd. Appearing for the firm was Tony Lockhorst.

In other court business, Robert Ashton of Kelowna, was remanded to July 17 on a charge of trafficking in LSD. Also remanded were John Holland of Kelowna, on an impaired driving charge, and Glenn Murphy of Kelowna, on a charge of breaking and entering and theft.

No Relief From Heat

Sunny, warm weather should continue over the Okanagan Friday morning, with increasing cloud in the afternoon as a weak Pacific disturbance crosses the Oregon coast tonight, spreads cloud over the district.

Winds should be light. Wednesday's high was 96, the overnight low 99 and no precipitation was recorded.

Low tonight and high Friday should be 47 and 88.

GROUP LIVING PROJECT BOOSTED

A financial helpful hand is conveyed to the Kelowna Group Living Home Society by way of a $500 cheque from the Kelowna Kiwanis Club. Accepting the donation Wednesday from Kiwanis president, William Cross, left, is Arthur MacKenzie, president of the society. The funds will be used toward operational cost of the home for boys which has been in operation in the city for the past two weeks. One-third of the project is being financed by the provincial government, with 10 per cent dependent on local contributions and the balance underwritten by Central Mortgage and Housing.

Penticton Festival May Be Cancelled

PENTICTON — The fate of this year's Peach Festival will be determined at a special meeting of the Peach Festival Association today.

The Canadian Union of Public Employees, Local 608 policy committee Wednesday turned down a request by the Peach Festival Association to not picket festival activities.

The action by the striking city employees will probably result in the cancellation of parts of the annual event if not the entire festival, a spokesman said.

The annual parade and rodeo will have to be cancelled from the festival agenda, July 29 to Aug. 2, and other activities face similar prospects, said Peach Festival president Phil Locke Wednesday.

Problems which will severely restrict the number of activities face the festival organization in view of the CUPE decision.

MAY PICKET

The CUPE policy committee, was asked at an earlier festival meeting attended by labor executives, to reconsider picketing the peach festival.

The policy committee discussed the request for consideration at a special meeting Wednesday.

"I wish to inform you that the policy committee sees no reason to change its policy in regard to picketing at this time," said Lloyd Stokes, president of the local in a letter to Mr. Locke.

"The committee further requests that your organization urge city council to meet with our representatives at the earliest possible date with a view to an early settlement of the strike."

Plagued with organizational problems throughout the earlier part of this year, Mr. Locke said, the festival association is concerned over the repercussions the strike may have on other activities during the festival.

If pickets appear during the festival, many paying customers may not cross them, he added.

The profit margin for any activity is limited and if only 30 per cent of those who had planned to attend refuse to cross the picket line, we could face serious financial problems.

Unless a settlement is reached between striking city employees and the city, the parade will have to be cancelled because there will not be anyone to put up the city-owned barricade, parking and warning signs.

Mr. Locke also expressed fears that union-type bands such as the Vancouver Police Pipe Band and the Edmonton Fire Band will not participate if pickets appear.

The rodeo would have to be cancelled because there would be no city employees to set things up.

City employees usually carry out the activities, he said.

Grape Growers To Set Prices

No details have yet been made available on a meeting Wednesday with five British Columbia winery representatives and the newly formed provisional British Columbia Grape Marketing Board.

Led by chairman Eden Raikes, the five-man board was appointed by the B.C. cabinet following a 93 per cent vote last month among 102 Okanagan growers favoring establishment of a price regulating body in the Valley.

Purpose of the meeting was to thrash out prices and terms of sale for the 1970 wine crop which is expected to weigh in at between 8,000 and 10,000 tons for a record value of $1,000,000. Of six wineries in the province, Calona Wines Ltd. is the only company which refused to attend Wednesday's meeting with the board. The firm's position drew verbal fire from chairman Raikes Monday who said in a prepared statement: "We are naturally disappointed that one of the larger wineries in the province has seen fit to adopt this position."

Mr. Raikes added the board was "not surprised" since "this is entirely in keeping with the completely negative attitude held by this company and its senior officers in their dealings with British Columbia grape growers."

He said terms based on negotiations with wineries pertaining to sale and purchase of grapes in the province "will be binding on all wineries in the province whether they choose to be represented at this meeting or not."

Denying the accusation that his company had a "completely negative attitude" toward grape growers, Tom Capozzi, of Calona Wines Ltd., in a rebuttal Wednesday said he had contacted the secretary of the grape board last week "informing him wineries had hoped to postpone Wednesday's meeting until Aug. 1" as legislation setting up the grape marketing act "is not yet finalized."

Mr. Capozzi added secretary L. R. Stephens "informed me that whether the wineries were there or not, the grape marketing board was going to set the price."

NOT CONSULTED
"This seems very amazing to myself," said Mr. Capozzi, "as we felt there should be a board set up of equal members of the grape marketing board and the wineries with final decisions on prices, if not agreed, to go to arbitration under the B.C. Arbitration Act."

He said he had received a telegram from board chairman Raikes Monday which closed with the information that the board was drafting an official order covering procedures for negotiations, and expected to have a copy available Wednesday or earlier.

"It appears to me that it certainly would be very difficult to discuss prices when we have no procedures, and from Mr. Raikes telegram, I could only gather we would receive them as we entered the meeting," Mr. Capozzi added. "Other things that are quite disturbing" he said were that "the largest vineyard in the Okanagan," Pacific Vineyards Ltd., "is not represented on the marketing board, or has not asked to be represented."

He was also perturbed by the fact the board "does not wish to price its products in the same way the pea and corn marketing board, or even the apple marketing board does, which is against the alternate sources of supply."

Merchants Warned To Avoid Shady Salesmen Working City

Local merchants are warned to be wary of smooth-talking individuals soliciting advertising for various printed programs ostensibly in support of upcoming events.

Several incidences involving various promotional gimmicks have been reported this year in Kelowna and district in which unsuspecting merchants have been persuaded to buy space in sports programs with little or no visible return for their financial faith, or without even being supplied a copy of the so-called program or the ad they inserted.

The false promotional scheme has been worked in the sports areas of figure skating, track and field and baseball.

The main selling point is to convince prospective customers the money they invest in advertising goes toward defraying costs and travelling expenses of young athletes involved in a particular tournament. So far, no evidence has been uncovered to support this claim and all money collected winds up in the hands of the unscrupulous advertising promoters.

Queried on the matter Wednesday, Merv Lepper, president of the Kelowna Development Association said he had received no complaints from local merchants. He did suggest greater caution by businessmen or residents who might be exposed to the scheme in the future, adding they be more critical in examining the authenticity of any self-proclaimed printed program promoter. This might be accomplished by checking with the association or by requesting the name of the printing firm supplying the programs.

THEY HEADLINE

Irish Rovers Recall Lean Days

The big-name entertainment at this year's Kelowna International Regatta, Aug. 5 to 8, will be the Irish Rovers.

The Rovers headline the Wednesday - Thursday night shows.

From the summit of international success, The Irish Rovers look back on lean days and hard work, and the divergent paths that finally brought them together half the world away from their native land.

IN THE WET

Will Millar, banjoist, guitarist, vocalist and guiding spirit of the Irish Rovers, and his brother George, remember the drizzly summer nights, when as boys, they used to perform at the Town Hall in Portlough, Ireland. "Some of the crowd came to hear us—the rest came to get out of the wet," says Will. Will McDowell remembers winning the All-Ireland Accordion Championship, forming his own band and touring extensively, to entertain Irishmen at home and in other countries. Big, ebullient and humorous Jimmy Ferguson thinks back on endless hours of tedium, working as a scullion in a ship's galley, before joining the Irish Rovers and finding an outlet for his musical talent and fine Irish wit. Joe Millar, cousin to brothers Will and George, recalls his days as a cobbler in Ballymena that he left to join the group as one of the original members of the Irish Rovers, when they were a quartet. Prior to their recording success, Joe returned to his home and family in Northern Ireland, at which time Will was brought over to the states as replacement. With the success of The Unicorn, and subsequent successes both on record and in concert, Joe was asked to return to the group, which he did. His contribution consist of playing the button-key, chromatic accordion, harmonica and electric bass, plus providing bass harmony on vo-als by the group and solos on the Irish low songs.

MUSICA LEFAMILY

Will and George Millar grew up in an exceptionally musical family in their native Ireland. Their father played the accordion professionally—and the two brothers, along with their sister, Sandra, performed as a children's trio, The Millar Kids, touring the country. Cousin Jim joined them at a seaside cottage in Portlough and on the Town Hall stage. Some years later, the Millar family emigrated to Canada and Will went to Trinidad, where he lived with a West Indian family and learned calypso music. About this time, Jim Ferguson's father died and at age 14, Jim left school to support his brother and seven sisters, working in a galley of a British merchant ship. George and his sister continued their career in Canada, with their father accompanying them on the accordion.

TO TORONTO

Will found his way to Toronto, playing with, of all things, a steel band. Finding himself stranded when the club they were playing closed down, he headed west ending up in Calgary, where he got a job playing in a club on weekends, for $10 and "all the food I could eat." This led to a job performing for children in a pancake house, which, in turn, brought him a television guest spot on a kiddie show. He scored such a hit that he was rewarded with his own daily TV show Just For Fun. It was at this point that Will met Les Weinstein, a former sales executive for Columbia Pictures, as well as former manager of a Montreal variety theatre, who had recently formed his own advertising and public relations agency. Will was earning a respectable income at this time, after a period of hard times, and doing rather well, explains Weinstein, "but he wanted the challenge of working with a group." And thus was formed the nucleus of the Irish Rovers.

After three years of peeling potatoes, Jim Ferguson decided a naval career wasn't for him, and one day in port, he stepped off his ship and found himself in Canada. He got a job singing at Irish dances "for all you can eat and drink," and fate led him to the hall the Millar Kids were playing. George and Jim then found a couple of Irishmen and formed a group called the Irish Rovers, whereupon brother Will invited them to appear on his TV show. With the three boyhood singing companions back together, things started peeling fast.

Will discovered a song by magazine cartoonist Shel Silverstein, called The Unicorn. Will wanted George, Jim and Joe to record it with him. Within a matter of days, the Millars and Ferguson were back together as the Irish Rovers, and to round out the group, Will made a transatlantic call to Ireland asking Will McDowell, who had been in Canada only two weeks before, to come back and join the Rovers. His answer was a definite yes, and shortly after his return to Calgary, the five Irish Rovers recorded The Unicorn.

SPREAD QUICKLY

Upon its release, The Unicorn received instantaneous attention in Calgary, since the town claimed them as a local group in spite of their overseas origin. Spreading quickly throughout Canada, The Unicorn sold so many copies that Decca Records decided to release it in the U.S., where it caught on from coast to coast, as well as around the world. Well, not quite around the world. With a self-satisfying pride, the Rovers recount how composer Shel Silverstein, who was then on a trip to the mid-Pacific islands, was obvious to the huge success of The Unicorn until he docked in San Francisco and heard the Rovers' recording on every radio station.

The Irish Rovers possess that extra measure of wit and poetry shared by all the Irish. And although they speak the Queen's English, there's no mistaking the rich brogue. Fortunately, their scope is much broader than the Emerald Isle, and they don't make a professional gimmick out of their Irishness. Their repertoire includes material from all over the world, spanning several countries, and their talents have a universality that reaches everyone. They appeal to all ages, as well as to an unusually wide range of people, with their pure and honest approach to music. Only real musicians who have great natural ability and technique, like the Irish Rovers, could hope to bring it off successfully. Which is just what they've done time and time again, not only on recordings, but in concerts and regularly on TV.

MUCH TV WORK

Their credits include seven appearances in a single season on The Mike Douglas Show, The Joey Bishop Show, The Merv Griffin Show, The Today Show, The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour, The Donald O'Connor Show, The Steve Allen Show, and The Della Reese Show, in addition to being featured in three different segments of NBC-TV's Virginian series. These latter guestings were well received that NBC-TV, in conjunction with MCA-TV, have signed them for a series of their own, which will begin airing this year. They have also done radio commercials for Irish Airlines that are heard both in the U.S. and Canada. Additionally, the Irish Rovers have earned a total of six gold records for their sales of recordings in the U.S., Canada, Australia, and New Zealand.

July 4th Reflections

A few days ago our nearest neighbor and our closest friend, the United States, celebrated its national birthday.

Canadians are the partners of Americans in the North American defence system and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. We share strong cultural and economic links—far too strong, say some Canadians—and we have stood side by side on battlefields in many foreign lands. For more than half a century our wars have been theirs and their wars have been ours—until Vietnam.

We two nations may be something less than brothers, but we are something more than neighbors. Unlike some Europeans, Canadians find no satisfaction in watching the United States suffer deep, self-inflicted wounds. There is no spiteful joy for us in seeing America's universities besieged, its streets barricaded and bombed, its liberalism endangered.

We despair for the United States, perhaps because we despair for ourselves. We have shared in the American dream. Despite our sentimental ties to Great Britain and France, our way of life has been in step with the American way of life. We have reflected its dynamism, its prosperity and, in truth, its materialistic quest.

And now, for the first time in the memory of any living Canadian, there is fear that what the United States is, we could become. It is this concern about America that disturbs Canadians.

Confusion Is Complete

(Victoria Times)

The tragedy of Northern Ireland, and of Belfast in particular, is one that shocks the world. While the basic problem is rooted in the injustice of a Protestant majority which traditionally has deprived the Catholic minority of political and economic rights, the struggle is so heavily overlaid with religious prejudice and historic hatreds that the savagery of the fighting far exceeds the usual passions of internecine political warfare.

When to this sorry confrontation is added the neutral factor of English troops sent in to try to separate the combatants and restore peace, the confusion becomes complete. A further tragedy is that the Irish temperament being what it is, every killed and wounded citizen will be remembered and established as a legitimate cause for future fighting. Each incident becomes the seed of further violence, each injured participant a martyr whose honor demands future retaliation.

The recent legislation which set out reforms in the economic and voting rights of Catholics in Northern Ireland has not been properly implemented. There is still a great grievance among the minority population. But the Protestant fear of Catholic strength at the polls and a possible move some day to unite Ulster with the Catholic republic to the south is a live one and enough to send crowds into the streets at the first threat of danger to the status quo. The rabid fulminations of the Rev. Ian Paisley add further gasoline to the fire. This very able speaker and reckless demagogue has much to answer for in the toll of death, injury and damage that has been augmented by his fiery denunciations and incitement of fears.

With hysteria and ingrained hatreds holding so prominent a place in the background of Northern Ireland's sad drama, the unfortunate truth is that there is little prospect of peace in the near future, or perhaps even in the distant. The new generation is being graphically taught to inherit the mistakes of the old, and a permanent generation of the combatants, imposed by outsiders, seems to promise the only relief.

In such a situation, leadership could be the key to a solution. But political leadership in Northern Ireland is so often won on the basis of appeal to prejudices and fears, that voices of moderation and logic are not easily heard. True democracy has little hope of success in such an environment. It may be the fate of the Northern Irish to lose some of their freedom in order to save it.

As Prime Minister Heath said on Saturday: "In the end it is for the people of Ulster to decide whether they want to listen to the voices of ancient fears and the old-established hatreds, whether they want to listen to those who preach violence and destruction . . . or whether they will have the will to live together and work together with hope and peace." That is the choice, but history gives a pessimistic undertone to the answer.

Victory For Decency

(Victoria Times)

Widespread public indignation and protest against the proposed shipment of a large stock of deadly nerve gas from Okinawa to this continent has apparently induced the U.S. Senate to cancel the movement and order the stuff destroyed. If carried out, this order will remove the danger which the trans-shipment threatened to populations on both sides of the 49th parallel, and it will serve the wider purpose of removing a standing threat against some future population which might become classed as an enemy.

If this was a defeat for Pentagon thinking, then it is a victory for decent people everywhere. The apparent recognition of aroused public opinion gives hope that this same voice of humanity may be effective in halting the manufacture and use of all bacteriological and chemical warfare materials. There will be small benefit in the destruction of the Okinawa stockpile if a new and possibly worse horror is to replace it.

Bygone Days

(From Courier Files)

10 YEARS AGO

July 1960
Forest fires blacken the Okanagan skies. Five separate fires from O'Keefe's ranch, ten miles from Vernon, to Penticton, are raging, and it is estimated that over 20,000 acres of bush and farm land has been burned over. This morning all fires except the one at O'Keefe's are reported under control, but the forestry department states that the brush and timberland is like a powder keg.

20 YEARS AGO

July 1950
Ethel Ramsay, former Rutland softball star, now with the Harlem Queens, won herself fame when she pitched a no-bitter in Vancouver to give her Chicago team a 2-0 victory over the highly touted Western Mutuals, a Senior A Women's squad. Miss Ramsay is dubbed by her teammates as "B.C." and "Miss Satchel Paige."

30 YEARS AGO

July 1940
Miss Eileen O'Reilly of Ellison, who came to the Okanagan Mission valley in 1894 to join her two sisters, Mrs. John Conroy and Mrs. Michael Heron, passed away following a fall in which she suffered a broken hip and wrist. Miss O'Reilly was born in Frampton, Quebec, in 1850, one of a family of 10 children, of which she was the last to survive.

40 YEARS AGO

July 1930
The Kelowna Ramblers defeated Rutland in the final and deciding game of the Central Okanagan Baseball League playoffs at Rutland Thursday evening. The score was Ramblers 7, Rutland 5. Winning pitcher was Lindsay, and Howard Thornton the loser.

50 YEARS AGO

July 1920
Hon. Arthur Meighan has been selected to succeed Sir Robert Borden as prime minister. The choice met with favorable comment from the newspapers. Hon. Martin Burrell, member for this riding, is resigning from the cabinet to become Parliamentary Librarian.

60 YEARS AGO

July 1910
Mr. W. D. Walker has just effected a sale of his well appointed residence at Okanagan Mission, together with 24 acres of land, of which 10 acres is bearing orchard, to Dr. Wansborough Jones of Manchester, England. Mr. Walker is taking up residence in his summer home on the lakeshore.

In Passing

The "silent, relaxed driver" requested by a group when they rented a city bus in San Francisco, apparently let nothing intrude on his safe driving when, according to his claim, he was unaware that the passengers were filming an "obscene" movie in his bus.

No Real Hope Sighted Yet For Common Cold's Defeat

The common cold is one of mankind's oldest, most prevalent, costly and baffling maladies. But you can be in style while you suffer. This article on man's common ailments, tells you how.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — If you catch a cold by year's end—as you and most other people probably will—you should hope it is caused by the corona virus.

Not that you will be any less miserable. You won't.

Not that your doctor will have any more luck curing the attack. He won't.

But with a corona-caused cold, you'll at least be one of the "in" crowd, upper-respiratorially speaking.

That is, you'll be suffering from the latest thing in the common cold—a virus in effect as mod and up-to-date as the miniskirt.

The corona—so named because it is shaped somewhat like a microscopic regal crown—is a newly-recognized recruit in the varied and ever-growing brigade of villainous bugs that can cause the common cold, one of mankind's oldest, most prevalent, costly and baffling maladies.

HOPES PETER OUT

But with discovery of the corona virus comes this conclusion of prominent researchers:

Chances appear slimmer than ever for any major breakthrough in the near future toward developing conventional preventive vaccines against all the multiple varieties of cold-causing germs.

The scientists say the only hope for any major conquest of the common cold lies in the foreseeable future rests on new experiments aimed at developing chemical drugs—as distinguished from vaccines—which are made up of toned-down versions of the viruses themselves.

Even the most potent and versatile of the antibiotic wonder drugs, such as penicillin and its latter-day followers, are powerless to prevent or cure the common cold.

This is because colds are caused by viruses—as distinguished from such other microbes as bacteria, fungi and rickettsiae for which the antibiotics and certain other drugs are bad news.

At present, American scientists are employing prisoner and other volunteers to test newly developed drugs, including one called Poly I:C, that are designed to stimulate the body to produce extra quantities of a natural virus-fighting chemical called "interferon."

Also being tested are other experimental compounds, developed by several drug firms, designed to kill cold germs directly.

Dr. Robert Couch of Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, Tex.—one of the centres where such drugs are being tested—said "the next two or three years" should reveal whether any promising is on the horizon.

EXPERIMENTS GO ON

In the vaccine field, Couch and other scientists say, the best hope for achieving at least partial success lies in other pioneering studies aimed at producing "hybrid" viruses, consisting of combinations of two different germs; and "temperature-sensitive" mutant viruses that could thrive in the relatively cool environment of the nose and throat but be killed if they seeped down into warmer, vital areas of the body.

The coronas have tended to increase the complexity of the problem because they have been found in at least 21 varieties—any one of which can lay you low. There may be additional strains still undiscovered.

And to this clan must be added at least 125 known or suspected strains of the "rhino" viruses—so named because they invade the nose. Collectively, these constitute the chief cause of misery inducing but non-fatal colds in adults.

Moreover, the common cold brigade includes several other types of germs that cause comparatively less prevalent but more serious, and sometimes fatal, illnesses—especially in children.

A number of these germs were first isolated at the California State health department's virology laboratories at Berkeley, where research is supported by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Disease.

SEASONAL VIRUSES?

One lab scientist, Dr. Jack H. Schieble, says there's some evidence that coronas may be chiefly responsible for colds that strike in the winter, whereas the "rhino" viruses usually are most active in the fall and spring and appear to lie low in the winter months, at least on the U.S. east coast.

"I hope," Schieble said, "that the situation with the coronas won't prove to be like that with the rhinos, which come in so many different strains."

"But, even as things stand now, I see no cause for real optimism for controlling the common cold in general through the usual preventive methods for viral diseases—that is, by vaccines."

Dr. James Chin, an epidemiologist at the Berkeley laboratories, reflected Schieble's pessimism.

"With so many possible common cold viruses already known, and perhaps more yet to be discovered," Chin said, "it will be almost impossible to test them all . . . for possible protective vaccines."

"I have no doubt that effective vaccines will be developed against a few of the rhinos . . . but at that point you're going to reach a point of diminishing return for your efforts."

He added that it's conceivable that only a dozen of the 125 known and suspected rhinos are real troublemakers—"with the rest just red herrings." If so, he said, a kind of vaccine "cocktail" made up of the dozen viruses might prove practical. But Chin said such a quest would take a lot of money "and it's difficult to get funding these days."

PRISONERS VOLUNTEER

At Houston, Baylor's Dr. Couch reports he and his associates, with the aid of prisoner volunteers, have developed a seemingly effective vaccine against one of the "rhino" viruses. The vaccine is made of living, but toned-down viruses of the "Type-15" rhino—a sort of a average rhino.

The Baylor researchers also confirmed findings of other laboratories that, if vaccines against the common cold are to be practical, they must be capable of being administered as nose-drops or nose-sprays—instead of being injected or taken as pills like conventional vaccines.

As one scientist put it: "The nose is where the action is."

But Couch and his team are after bigger game. One of their concepts is that if "hybrid" viruses could be developed—that is, a single virus with the combined characteristics of two different ones—it would be theoretically possible with vaccine made from such embryos to protect a person indefinitely against up to five of the 125 known or suspected rhinos. Also, for about three months after such a vaccination, the person would temporarily be protected against all other rhinos.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Planned Economy In Big Business

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the board, IBM, one of America's biggest businessmen has come out in favor of the sort of planning that has traditionally been called socialist in the United States. He did so last January while addressing the Bond Club in New York but I have only now acquired a copy of his speech and certain extracts from it are highly instructive.

He began by saying that the U.S. is bouncing along geared to annual appropriations by Congress in about the way it had in the 19th century. This in Mr. Watson's view means that there is no one to say here's where we are, here's where we want to go, and here's the route to get there. In most businesses and certainly in highly technological industries, the United States has learned how to set fairly precise goals. We've learned that we have to implement them step by step, in a disciplined way over a long period of time. I believe that the complexity of our modern economy demands national goal setting and planning closely paralleling that which is commonplace in industry.

VIETNAM EXAMPLE

As a failure to plan ahead carefully, Mr. Watson cites Vietnam: "... Our call to stop Communism anywhere—despite the price—drifted us into an unattainable goal in Vietnam. Since we have no formal mechanism to study, adjust and reset our national priorities in an integrated fashion, we pursued the Vietnam goal to a costly point. The lives of 40,000 of our men have been lost, vast resources have been wasted, and the morale of our youth eroded . . . this and other lessons convince me that we must recognize the existence of national goal . . . these should be costed and readjusted on an integrated basis just as a larger industrial enterprise sets and controls its goals.

MEDICAID POWER

Medicaid, essentially, gave one group, and a very deserving one the purchasing power to compete for an already scarce resource: health care. Medicaid did not build more hospitals, it did not train more doctors and nurses. It did not, so far as I know, even do much to impact our worst medical shortcoming, the high infant mortality in this country—one of the highest in the developed world.

Mr. Watson added that the U.S. would provide all medical aid it wanted or anything else but to do so . . . the U.S. must balance and compromise towards an integrated set of goals . . . we're talking about a dreadful housing shortage, said Mr. Watson but no evidence of preparations to meet it.

House's New Committee System Not Getting Universal Favor

OTTAWA (Special) — Parliament's new committee system is not meeting with anything like universal favor. In fact, there is a growing feeling among many Members of Parliament that the system should be drastically revised.

The new rules went into operation early in 1969 and there were high hopes that they would permit a more detailed examination of government spending and, at the same time, permit the Commons to devote more of its time to the government's legislative program.

But many MPs feel that these high hopes have not materialized and that the system has largely emasculated the Commons. While the system looked good on paper, it has been much less successful in practice.

Jed Baldwin, the Conservative house leader, and Stanley Knowles, the house leader for the New Democrats, are both disenchanted with the way the system is working.

RHETORICAL EXERCISE

Mr. Knowles points out that as an alternative to Commons' debates on departmental spending estimates, a system of opposition "allotted days" was established. Under this plan, there are 25 days in each parliamentary session when the three opposition parties take turns raising specific issues for a day-long debate.

But the NDP's rules expert notes that only six of these 25 can be designated as want of confidence debates which could lead to an upset of the government. The balance are simply rhetorical exercises which end without any conclusive vote for or against government policy.

Mr. Baldwin agrees and says he wanted all the allotted day debates to end in formal votes, although only the six would be confidence votes. In this way, he feels, many Liberal backbenchers who might disagree with government policy could express that disagreement without fear of defeating the government.

CANADA'S STORY

Governor La Barre Had Bad Time

By BOB BOWMAN

One of the worst mistakes King Louis XIV made in connection with Canada was to recall Count Frontenac as Governor in 1682 and send Joseph-Antoine La Barre to Quebec in his place. La Barre was a genius for putting his foot in things and got off to a bad start almost right away.

Radisson and Groselliers had been won away from the Hudson's Bay Company and were in the service of France. La Barre sent them to Hudson Bay to get the French back in the fur trade, and they built Fort Bourbon on the Hayes River. Then Radisson returned to Quebec with a New England ship he had captured, with a valuable cargo of furs, but La Barre released the ship and Radisson lost his prize money. Thereupon he went back to England, rejoined the Hudson's Bay Company, and captured Fort Bourbon for the English.

In 1684 La Barre set out to humble the Iroquois. He had about 200 soldiers and got them to Oswego, N.Y., where he set up camp. Characteristically, he established his camp in a marshy place where the water wasn't fit to drink, and food was scarce. The soldiers became ill and La Barre had to make ignominious peace terms with the Iroquois on July 9 instead of defeating them.

This was enough for King Louis XIV and La Barre was recalled the following year. He was replaced by the Marquis de Denonville who stayed in Canada for four years but was not able to subdue the Iroquois. The prestige of France was very low in Canada and then King Louis ate very humble pie for a king. He asked Count Frontenac to return to Canada and said "I send you back to New France where I expect you will serve me as well as you did before. I ask for nothing more." Nevertheless Frontenac had instructions to drive the English from North America.

OTHER EVENTS ON JULY 9:

1615—Champlain followed La Barre to Georgian Bay.

1706—Pierre LeMoyne d'Iberville died at Havana.

1759—Brigadier Townsend occupied left bank of Montmorency River in attack on Quebec.

1793—Upper Canada prohibited importation of slaves.

1811—David Thompson was at Junction of Snake and Columbia Rivers and claimed area for Britain.

1825—Fort Douglas on Red River was sold to Robert Logan for £400.

1843—"Prince Albert," first iron steamer in Canada, was launched at Montreal.

1886—Amnesty granted to all persons implicated in Northwest Rebellion except murderers.

1918—Plane carrying mail flew from Calgary to Edmonton.

1944—British and Canadian troops launched attack on Caen as second front developed.

Candlelight And Roses Enhance July 4 Wedding

Marriage vows were exchanged on July 4 in a candlelight ceremony by Maureen Lorna Magee of Kelowna and Charles Roy Gordon Smith of Surrey in St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Kelowna.

The tall candelabra standards were augmented by red and white roses and keeping the color theme, the pew markers of rose buds were circled with nylon net and white ribbons, monogrammed with seed pearls.

Music for the ceremony conducted at 5:30 p.m. by Rev. Canon R. W. S. Brown, was provided by Mrs. Fred Verkerke who played the Wedding March for the processional and other selections during the signing of the register.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Magee of Kelowna and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carr Smith of Surrey.

A gown of tulle organza over satin was chosen by the bride. A high collar trimmed with lace set off the empire style and lace cuffs finished the long full sleeves. Guipure lace with satin ribbon entwined, bordered the train which was attached at the waist.

Her four-tiered chapel veil, scalloped and dotted with seed pearls, fell from her headdress of three white rosebuds, which topped a cornet of lily of the valley. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses with trailing stephanotis and rosebuds tipped the streamers.

Keeping the red and white theme, maid of honor, Nicki O'Donnell of New Westminster wore an A-line gown of white lace over red tulle. The empire line was accented with a feathered pin, a gift of the bride, and she carried a nosegay of red tipped feathered carnations. White rosebuds were entwined in her hair.

Bridesmaids, in identical outfits, were Mrs. Gerald Moore of Beaverdell and Mrs. Robert Eaton of Richmond.

Flower girl, Patti Falk of Rutland, charming in a short white dress, and rosebuds tucked in her curls, carried a basket of red roses.

Ringbearer, Sean Malacka of Pitt Meadows in a white tuxedo suit with red bow tie, carried a heart-shaped satin pillow. Best man was Gary Smith of Surrey and ushers were Robert Brown, Surrey and Gerald Magee of Kelowna.

Receiving the 160 guests who enjoyed the reception at the Royal Anne the bride's mother wore an aqua blue chiffon dress completed with corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother chose a green over blue brocade dress, with contrasting white carnation corsage.

The red and white theme was continued throughout the reception with red roses decorating the three-tiered wedding cake and red and white swirled candles in silver candelabra flanking the white silk cloth covered bride's table. Other tables were centred with rosebuds in rose bowls.

The toast to the bride was made by Fred Harris of Keremeos and to the bridesmaids by Gary Smith. The groom also proposed a toast to the mothers. As it was also the occasion of the 74th birthday of Mrs. Eva Hanson of Frank, Alta., a toast to her and to the grandmothers was proposed by Ted Magee of Victoria.

Adding to the enjoyment of the occasion was the family reunion of the five Magee brothers and sisters, Ted Magee, Victoria, Walter Magee, Kelowna, Mrs. Alex Thompson, Terrace; Mrs. Clarke Brown, Salem, Ore. and Mrs. Fred Newman, Tisdale, Sask.

Out-of-town guests were from: San Diego, Calif., Salem, Ore., Seattle, Marysville, Wash., Blaine, Wash., Toronto, Saskatchewan, Tisdale, Prince Albert, Calgary, Frank, Hudson Hope, Vancouver, New Westminster, Port Coquitlam, Terrace, Oliver, Crescent Beach, Keremeos, Nanaimo, Victoria, Surrey, Pitt Meadows, Richmond, Penticton, Burnaby and Beaverdell.

YWCA Hostel Supplies 'Mat' For Transients

TORONTO (CP) — The YWCA has opened up a hostel for the summer where transient girls can sleep and have breakfast for 25 cents a day.

It's an unpretentious place. Bare bulbs hang from the walls and a bed is a one-inch foam rubber mat on the floor.

But girls like Barbara Young, a 19-year-old high school student from Brooklyn, N.Y., who took to the road to see Canada, think it's a great place to "crash."

Barbara walked into the hostel recently wearing a T-shirt and well-worn jeans and carrying a knapsack.

When she registered, she had to pay her quarter and also fill out on application for general welfare assistance. The Y collects $3 a person for bed and breakfast from the Toronto welfare department.

House rules say that girls have to be in by midnight and cannot stay longer than four days. But exceptions are made often.

"We try to see what the need is," said Cindy Mitsud, a graduate sociology student and one of the four girls on staff.

Lucienne is an 18-year-old French-Canadian girl who came to Toronto from Montreal, trying to find a job. For the first time in three weeks she is getting three meals a day. She has breakfast at the hostel, lunch at an emergency welfare place and a cheap dinner at the snack bar in the Y.

She didn't finish high school and has no job experience, and has been job-hunting unsuccessfully for a month.

Having been on the road all day looking for jobs, she usually ignores the hostel's amenities—pin-pong and TV—and is ready for her foam mat early.

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. David E. LeBeau of Kelowna are pleased to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Jeanette LeBeau to Bruce Allan Datoff, Queneau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Datoff of Queneau. The wedding date will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Hideo Ibaraki of Kelowna are pleased to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Marjorie Yanako to George Frederick Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wallace of Vancouver. The wedding will take place on Aug. 1 in Guardian Angels' Roman Catholic Church, Vancouver.

HITHER and YON

A keenly anticipated event in Kelowna and district is the afternoon tea hosted by Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. Bennett at their lovely Ethel Street grounds on Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. One of the attractions of the spacious yard is Mill Creek which winds its way along one side. The tall shade trees are sanctuaries of coolness utilized by many guests, who enjoy a once-a-year visit with the premier and his wife.

Happy to return to Kelowna after an absence of four years are Mr. and Mrs. Vern Johnson and daughter Bernay and son Brian, who presently reside at 1292 Centennial Crescent.

Lady of the Lake, Vicki Hoole and Mrs. William Sullivan, accompanied by Glen Carleton, director of publicity and promotion for the Kelowna International Regatta Association have left for Vancouver and Victoria on a promotional trip, through the courtesy of a national tobacco company.

Visitors enjoying the sunny Okanagan while visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Studer of Alta Vista have been Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mitchell of Swift Current and Mr. and Mrs. C. Burton of Vanguard, Sask.

Edmonton visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Studer, Alta Vista, have been their daughter Edith and Mona Hepburn and Alice Laverdiere.

Debbie, LoraLee, Donna and Roxanne Crawford, accompanied by their grandmother, Mrs. Aileen Sargent of Kamloops have arrived to make their home with their mother, Mrs. Iris Crawford at 1745 Richmond St., Kelowna.

Here from Vancouver to enjoy the summer months are Dr. W. Reginald Govan and Mrs. Govan, daughter Frederica and son Gordon, who are happy to be back in their Casa Loma home. Gordon is enthused about the six-week army course in which he is enrolled here.

Other Casa Loma summer residents back to enjoy the Okanagan are Mr. and Mrs. John Rowland of West Vancouver.

Again this year Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stokes and their children are holidaying at Boucherie Beach on Okanagan Lake. Mr. Stokes is executive vice-president of Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. and resides in West Vancouver.

Younger Students Accept Adults Going Back To High School

TORONTO (CP) — Going back to school at the age of 30 or so is lots of fun, two Toronto women have discovered. But with the return to school also come plenty of problems. Phyllis Eckel, a widowed mother of three, has just completed Grade 13 at Thistletown Collegiate Institute.

When her husband died in a car crash a year ago, she decided to follow up her ambition and become a school teacher.

She never knew how many problems she would encounter. There is the question of whether students will accept her, for example.

Mr. Eckel said she was timid on her first day at school, considering that she was in her early 30s and the students next to her just about 18. But the students, she said, accepted her without difficulties.

Then there is the embarrassment when a teacher looks at her for an answer to a problem and she doesn't know it. She feels uncomfortable about that.

Forthcoming Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Maddock of Westbank are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their second daughter, Virginia Dell Maddock to Martin Paul Dournovo, Ashcroft, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dournovo, North Vancouver. The wedding will take place on July 25 at 4:30 p.m. in St. George's Anglican Church.

There is the noise of high teen-age voices that bothers her sometimes.

There is the lack of time when she has to do her homework and write essays and care for her three children. Sometimes the money situation is tight.

Mrs. Eckel lives on the insurance money she got after her husband's death. Her mother takes care of the baby-sitting problem when she is at school.

She said she signs her own report card, something that amuses her and her teachers. One teacher wrote on her card: "A conscientious student."

She said he may have been joking. Jean Templeton, an actress and writer who studied science at the University of Toronto last year, said she also found that the noise bothered her.

D. H. Webster, head of guidance at Thistletown, said he hasn't heard of any teachers opposed to the idea of adults in their class.

"They may go a little easy on them. If an assignment is late, they may be more understanding because they know the student will do it and knows it must be done." He said the school tries to encourage adults to take subjects they can cope with, keeping in mind what their eventual job will be.

"We wouldn't advise French, for example, when they've been out of school for a while. As for math, well, some have to have it. But subjects like art and geography can be handled even if one is rusty."

The Peach City Promenaders hosted their party Saturday evening in the Legion Hall, with Burt Harvie as caller.

July 11, we have the Canoe Squares hosting a party at "El Dees" Parking Lot, at Salmon Arm. Time 8:30 p.m. Caller: Glen Stinson is of Regina.

Three big days of fun and dancing at the Nelson Jamboree, July 10, 11, 12, featuring Ralph Silvius as caller with Saturday afternoon workshop and evening dancing. Saturday morning includes cowboy breakfast and a dance on the ice Sunday morning to get your "Kool Kat" badge.

July 11, The "Saints" Square Dance Club of Penticton, invites everyone to an evening of dancing "Over the Stars" at Mariposa Park at 8 p.m. Master of ceremonies will be John McElter and guest callers. Come to the top of West Bench hill for fun, and follow signs to park. Please bring your lawn chairs. Spectators are also welcome.

DANCING IN THE PARK

Remember square dancing in the park every Tuesday evening, July 14, Ray Fredrickson and guest callers; July 21, John Hutchinson and guest callers. The Wheel-N-Stars will host a party in Summerland Youth Centre Hall, July 15, at 8 p.m. with Ralph Silvius, Modesta, Calif., as caller.

The Kelowna Wagon Wheelers held their picnic Sunday afternoon at Gyro Park.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Here are a few questions we might ask ourselves or others, and with a few honest answers we may come to the realization that "changing our ways" might be worthwhile.

1. Remember when each new caller you heard was the greatest?
2. Remember when that "nice couple", out of a clear blue sky, invited you to their home for a basement session?
3. Remember when you went to another community to attend a dance and found those people were not dancing "up to your level", but they had so much fun and made you feel so welcome.

4. Remember the first "name caller's" dance you attended and you were so surprised that everyone danced everything he called?

5. Remember the first time you were bored by your local caller?

6. Remember when you said or heard it said, "Why, they can't even do an Arkie Allemande?"

7. Remember your first realization (or haven't you realized it yet?) that competition in the business world may be fine but in social life, co-operation, not competition, is the watchword.

8. And one more question—at what time during your dancing experience did you enjoy life the most?

These questions are blunt but so are we when we feel the need to protect and prolong something we hold dear.

You may get richer by digging harder and faster in a mine, but the harder and faster you dig, the quicker the vein of ore runs out. Think these things over carefully and we may be able to save something we prize so much.

Till next week Happy Square Dancing.

TODDLER TROUBLE

LONDON (CP) — Toddlers aged between four and five years old have been terrorizing the Fulham district of London. Wedding receptions, church services and houses have been disrupted with bricks and bottles thrown through windows. One of the local householders, Mrs. Barbara Wooster, said: "They may only be small, but they can cause king-size damage."

COLORFUL CURTAIN

EDMONTON (CP) — A cheap wooden roller for a window blind used with a piece of fabric makes an inexpensive, colorful and decorative curtain for a child's bedroom, says Donna Bagden, home decorating consultant with the Alberta department of agriculture.

Pancake Mix Has New Use

OLD FASHIONED STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

- 2 cups buttermilk pancake mix
  - 1/4 cup sugar
  - 1/4 cup butter or margarine
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - Sweetened fresh or frozen sliced strawberries
  - Sweetened whipped cream
- Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Place pancake mix and sugar in bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk, stirring lightly until moistened. Turn dough onto lightly floured board or canvas; knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to 1/2-inch thickness. Cut with floured 3-inch round cutter to make 8 short-cakes.

Bake on ungreased cookie sheet 12 to 14 minutes.

To serve, split each short-cake in half. Spoon berries over bottom halves; replace tops and top with more berries and whipped cream.

Serves 8 for a grand finale to a grand day.

ANN LANDERS

Smoke Gets In Eyes If Conscience Burns

Dear Ann Landers: Four months ago my husband bet me $500 I could not give up smoking. I knew it was an ill-disguised bribe, but I had been wanting to quit cigarettes for a long time and I never had the willpower. This was just the incentive I needed so I accepted. He handed me the cheque 90 days later, which was our agreement.

Two weeks ago I received a phone call from Mom saying Dad had suffered a massive heart attack. I boarded the next plane and headed for Houston. The man seated next to me offered me a cigarette. I took it.

I stayed with Mom for a week. Dad passed the crisis and I smoked a pack of cigarettes every day I was there. I decided to quit smoking the minute the plane landed in Atlanta, and I did. But my conscience is bothering me. Do I owe my husband $500? After all, I DID quit. What do you say?—Griged.

Dear G.: You quit, all right, but you started again. In my book you should return the $500. But ask your husband to put the $500 back on the line for a second bet. And this time decide that QUIT means permanently.

Dear Ann Landers: Your "forgive and forget" philosophy needs remodelling. And your additional counsel—"especially if it's the first time"—should narrow the field somewhat, but in my case it didn't help. My husband is still with his first affair. I have been patiently waiting for three years hoping it would "burn itself out".

My options are pitifully few, to be perfectly frank. I MUST forgive even if I can't forget. Divorce is out of the question for a long list of reasons, starting with religious, and ending with financial. But now I am running into another kind of problem. What does a mother say to her teen-age children when they begin to ask leading questions? It seems to me that they are becoming suspicious of their father.

Since you are the lady with all the answers, please tell me what am I supposed to do, Ann Landers?—Ostrich Whose Children Have Good Vision

Dear O: You're supposed to protect the heel—even though he doesn't deserve it. Hold up your head and cover for him. If your children learn the truth from someone else, they will have the satisfaction and the emotional support that comes with the knowledge that their mother is a loyal woman who has real class. And if you want a good definition of class, it's the ability to conduct yourself with grace under pressure.

Dear Ann Landers: You mentioned in your column recently that the first prize for the most set sail for man size flavour... give yourself a LUCKY break!

Leave Something To The Imagination Wear A One-piece Peekaboo Suit

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

A little goes a long way in Oleg Cassini's new collection for Peter Pan Swimwear. The "little" is a one-piece suit that's barely there, for the talented designer has turned his hand to cutouts. They open up the sides, provide a peekaboo look at the back or show a sliver of midriff, modestly revealing almost as much as a bikini does but doing it discreetly. Mr. Cassini leaves an enticing bit to the imagination. He believes the average woman doesn't want to bare down drastically. He also believes cutouts offer figure flattery. "Many women," he says, "have one small figure flaw that they want to hide. The trick is to draw the eye away from the fault and give the viewer something alluring to look at. Swim suits with cutouts are the answer."

ONE-PIECE bikini by Oleg Cassini joins scant pants with alluring new look.

A NEW YOU

Ancient Proverb Is Guideline For July Summertime Secrets

By EMILY WILKENS

An ancient proverb decrees that "a woman should have the fire of the sun, the peace of the moon and the beauty of the stars."

What a lovely thought—especially during the summertime when romance is in the air. Make the most of it with these spruce-up secrets—JUST FOR YOU!

GREAT GLOSSER . . . When you're looking for a glamorous glow and don't have a ready-made glosser, try dabbing odorless castor oil on your forehead, cheeks, even the tip of your nose for a "tillating" touch. Apply lightly after makeup is set. Without question, this old-fashioned home remedy looks much better than it tastes!

SCENT-SATIONAL . . . A fragrant signature is the very essence of femininity. Play it to the hilt by mixing or matching all your toilette essentials—soap, toilet water, bath powder, lotion. A melange of scent will be mysteriously fascinating if you use, for example, a jasmine-base soap with an all-over delicate floral spray, plus a carnation-base, "peppy" talc. Carry the blend even further by touching perfume to all the pulse spots—the backs of your knees, hollow of throat, temples, wrists back of neck, behind ears. If hot weather makes the top of your perfume bottle stick, tap around the rim with a sharp object such as the back of a knife, or let hot water run on the neck of the bottle for one second only. Then grasp top with a towel and turn . . . it will come off readily.

BEAUTIFUL BREATH . . . Don't underestimate the importance of cleaning your tongue as part of a program for sweet breath. Many countries have special "tongue fresheners" manufactured for this purpose. Or, you can simply use a soft toothbrush. However, I favor a clean girle bone (white enameled steel undergarment stay, available at notion counters). Gently draw the side of the bone from the back of the tongue to the tip. Rinse bone under running water and repeat procedure until the bone comes away clean.

LABEL FABLE . . . When you transfer beauty preparations from large bottles to convenient smaller containers, remember you MUST label the container. I know a girl who stored nail polish remover in a little hair conditioner bottle . . . forgot all about it and was about to "condition" her hair with remover—fortunately, she smelled the contents and stopped in time! Don't trust your memory—trust a label instead.

CUTICLE CUES . . . Are you using cuticle cream faithfully but enjoying the benefits less? The problem may be that you are merely applying the cream, not MASSAGING it in. Proper, nightly use of cuticle cream helps eliminate thick cuticles and hangnails. It can definitely improve the overall condition and strength of your nails as well. Work the cream down, down into the cuticle, massaging well, all along the sides and base of each nail. This will combat annoying callouses, too.

SALES REFLECT THOUGHTS MONTREAL (CP) — Bookstore owner Frances Rodick says book sales reflect trends of thought. Politicians' writings and astrological books are popular now and interest in science fiction shot up with man's first walk on the moon. More people are buying books on religion, especially Malcolm Muggeridge's Jesus Rediscovered, and in travel books, "Spain is in and Israel is out."

TAKE THE PLUNGE in cutouts that dip to a dramatic new look at each side.

Use Sparkling Apple Juice To Refresh A Dry Palate

By ALICE DENOFF

Comes the time for a full repertoire of thirst-quenchers and delicious little, cooling something. Turn to a trusty, trusted pantry shelf staple, apple juice, to do a superb job of routing warm weather woes.

SPICY APPLE JUICE SODA
1 quart apple juice
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup heavy cream
1 quart cream soda
Mix together first 4 ingredients and simmer 15 minutes. Let stand until cool and pour into ice cube tray, letting ground spices remain in bottom of pan. Freeze until solid. Fill tall glasses with apple juice cubes. Add 2 tablespoons cream to each glass fill to top with cream soda. Stir with a spoon and serve.
Makes 4 servings.

MAPLE APPLE SODA
1 quart apple juice
1 pint half 'n half cream
1/2 cup light corn syrup
Few drops maple flavoring

1 quart maple walnut ice cream
Combine first 4 ingredients. Pour into glasses. Top with a scoop of ice cream.
Makes 8 servings of something delightful.

CONFETTI APPLE JUICE FLOAT
2 quarts chilled apple juice
1 quart vanilla ice cream
Confetti sprinkles
Pour apple juice into tall glasses. Top each with large scoop vanilla ice cream. Sprinkle with confetti sprinkles and serve with straws.
Serves 6 to 8 and is a particularly nice party offering.

APPLE REFRESHER
1 1/2 quarts chilled apple juice
1/4 cup chilled lemon juice
1 quart lemon sherbet
Sprigs of mint
Combine apple juice and lemon juice. Put large scoops of lemon sherbet into tall glasses; pour in apple juice mixture. Garnish each glass with sprigs of mint.
Makes 6 to 8 glasses of a most refreshing summertime cooler.

Anesthetic Bandages Will Take The 'Ouch' Out Of Children's Shots

CHICAGO (AP) — An Ohio doctor has found a way to take the ouch out of shots most children hate to take. Dr. Herman M. Lubens of Dayton said at a news conference Wednesday, "I have a dream of having a generation of children grow up without fear of inoculations." Dr. Lubens is affiliated with Children's Hospital Medical Centre at the University of Cincinnati. He and a colleague from that institution, Dr. Robert W. Ausdenmoore, and Dr. Alan D. Shafer of Barney Children's Medical Centre, Dayton, won a certificate of merit for their scientific exhibit at the American Medical Association convention. The method of eliminating pain from needle injections involves the application of an adhesive patch on which an anesthetic has been applied. The numbing of the anesthetic starts in 20 to 30 minutes and the peak effect is achieved in two hours. Each adhesive patch has a blue square marked on it and this is placed over the area where the needle is to be injected. This way, Dr. Lubens said, a mother can apply the anesthetic to the spot where the needle is to be stuck and prepare the child before taking him to the doctor's office. The anesthetic bandage is not yet commercially available.

CO-FAVORITES WRESTLE FOR TROPHY

Osoyogo Open Golf Tournament which began this morning at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club. Ticehurst and Russell, both from Vancouver, have each had their names engraved on the trophy on three different occasions. Ticehurst, winner of the event three of the last four years, toured the par-72, 6,251-yard layout in a three under par 69, in a practice round Wednesday, one better than Willington Cup member John Russell, who carded a 70. The 54-hole tournament concludes Saturday.

TRACK AND FIELD

B.C. Bantam-Midget Meet Ready For Oval Saturday

Five hundred competitors from throughout the northwest will be in Kelowna this weekend to take part in the B.C. Bantam-Midget Track and Field Championships at the City Park Oval.

The bulk of competitors will be from the Lower Mainland and the Island, while three clubs from Calgary will be attending and four from Seattle.

Some of Canada's top young athletes will be in attendance, and several Canadian records are expected to fall.

Standout performances in the bantam girls events (13 and under) are expected from such athletes as Mitzi McMillin of Seattle, Cheryl Blevins of Victoria, Cindy Druce of Victoria and Brenda Colvin of Rutland.

McMillin will be the one to beat in the 100 and 200 metre hurdles, as well as the high jump. She has cleared the bar at 5'4".

Blevins, of the Victoria Mercury and Druce of the Victoria Track and Field Club, are expected to fight it out in the 100 and 200 metres. Druce competed in the B.C. high school 100 metre final, running it in 12.3 seconds.

REAL CONTENDER

Colvin, of the Okanagan Track and Field Club is expected to be a real contender in the shot put, discus and javelin.

Mike Critchley of the Simon Fraser Track and Field Club, will be out to break his own Canadian bantam boys record in the 400 metres, with a best time of 53.0 seconds.

Mark Warburton is the favorite in the 400 metres, with a best time of 53.0 seconds.

The 800 and 1500 metre events look like a three way battle, with Dean Gordon of Richmond, John Martens of Simon Fraser and Dave Robinson of Dr. Knox Secondary School in Kelowna all given a chance for victory.

In the midget events (15 and under) the top contenders will be chosen for a spot on the B.C. team to represent the province at the Western Canada Midget and Juvenile Championships to be held in Winnipeg.

SHOULD DO WELL

Okanagan competitors should do well in the midget girls' events, with Sandra Tachell and Gayleann Wren of Salmon Arm being looked to for good performances in the high jump. Both have cleared 5'2".

Their biggest competition will come from Connie Brill of Burnaby, sister of the famous Debbie, who is currently in Scotland for the British Commonwealth Games.

Janice Buchner and Carol Hartman of Rutland are expected to give visitors a lot of trouble in their specialties, the shot, javelin and discus.

Another top contender from the Valley, Jane Collingwood of Kelowna will be entered in the 80 and 200 metre events, as well as the long jump, and is expected to give tough competition.

One of the fastest girls at the meet will be Elaine Smith of Simon Fraser, who has been timed at 12.2 seconds in the 100 metres and 25.4 in the 200 metres.

Ken Angus of Rutland will be a top contender in the midget boys' 400 and 800 metre hurdles and should get competition from Dave Blue of the Victoria Optimists.

Others to look for in the midget boys' events will be John Gibson from Cowichan Valley Track and Field Club, in the 100 metres, with a best time of 10.9 seconds.

Aggerton from the Calgary Chinooks will be entered in the 200 metres (23.0), 400 metres (53.0) and 800 metres (2:04), and Steve Armstrong of Meadow Brook Track Club in the high jump (6'1").

The meet gets under way Saturday at 9 a.m. and will continue until about 5 p.m. Sunday, competitions will begin at the same time.

Queen's Baton On Its Way

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — The baton carrying the Queen's good wishes to Commonwealth Games athletes at Edinburgh, Scotland, was started on its way Wednesday from this Northwest Territories capital.

The Games open July 16. The Queen's message relay, as it is called, began in her presence at Yellowknife's grassless Pettit Park with the jogging participation of some of Canada's leading track stars.

Starting the baton on its way from the platform where the Royal Family had assembled with Canadian Harry Jerome and Abigail Hoffman and Jamaican George Kerr.

Others who took part were six athletes from the Northwest Territories: Mikellie Desnoyers and Bonnie Monkman from Hay River, Francis Drygeese of Yellowknife, Roseanne Allen and Turpin Cockney of Inuvik and Terry Hinton of Pine Point.

TAKEN TO PLACE

Passing of the baton continued along a route to Yellowknife airport where it was put aboard a commercial airliner after being delivered to the top of a ramp flanked by two Mounties and a guard of honor made up of guides, scouts and cadets.

The flight captain's acceptance of the baton concluded the ceremonial participation in the relay. Similar ceremonies will take place in Edmonton and Winnipeg prior to the baton's crossing the Atlantic.

Royal participation in the ceremony was less than 10 minutes.

The Queen, Prince Philip, Prince Charles and Princess Anne were driven to the park from the airport on their return from visits to the communities of Fort Smith and Pine Point, both in the Great Slave Lake area.

The Royal Family entered the park through a roped-off passage and proceeded to the stand. After a brief chat with Jerome, Kerr and Miss Hoffman, the baton was started on its way.

Carls May Wrap It Up Tonight

The Kelowna Carlings, who have made a complete shambles of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League pennant race all season long, can finally wrap up the title tonight when they host the Penticton Molsons.

A victory over the second-place Molsons, who are currently a distant nine games back of the pace being set by the powerful Carlings, would officially remove any chance Penticton has of winning the OMBL flag.

However, third-place Kamloops can still retain a mathematical chance, if they can defeat last-place Vernon in a second OMBL game tonight. But should Vernon upset the onrushing Carlings, it would eliminate any possible hope Kamloops would have had of overtaking the Carlings.

And how have the Carlings run away with the championship—their first in eight years—with such ridiculous ease? Several eye-catching statistics best summarize:

—The Carlings, while winning 22 of 27 games, have outscored the opposition 188 runs, to just 88.

—They have outthrew their opponents by a wide 76 point margin, compiling a .270 team average, while holding their foes to a meagre .184 figure.

—Their winningest pitcher, Mike Burdett, who has started only nine of 27 games, has won more games alone than has the entire Vernon pitching staff.

—The club's leading slugger, Jerome Richardson, has hit more home runs himself than has the entire Kamloops team.

Lefthander Glen Harkley, unbeaten in five decisions, will take the mound for Kelowna, while Ken Carmak, a two-time New York Yankee draft choice, will pitch for Penticton.

Game time, at Elks' Stadium, is 8 p.m.

Clay's Sparing Cancelled

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Cassius Clay's scheduled sparring bouts Thursday have been cancelled.

Clay was scheduled to fight two three-round exhibitions in a county-owned auditorium, but the county council Tuesday refused promoter Reggie Barretti permission to use the building.

Barretti then tried to obtain a speedway for the bouts, but in mid-afternoon talks fell through.

Rovers Outclass Royals Take Over First Place

The Rutland Molson Rovers of the Kelowna and District Senior B men's softball league played their kind of game Wednesday, and came away with a convincing 7-0 victory over the Royal Anne Royals.

The Rovers, moving into sole possession of first place with the win, took advantage of seven Royal errors, allowed only two hits, and played errorless ball themselves, for their third win of the season at the expense of the second place Royals.

To help things out, the Rovers didn't do things that are usually expected. They outthrew the visitors 8-2, scored more runs, and had more 300 hitters during the night.

The old adage of "defence, hustle, and pitching wins championships" has been the line of thinking in Rutland for some years, and Wednesday they proved their point.

Looking at statistics thus far this season, the powerhouse Royal squad has led in just about all offensive departments as a team, while the Rovers have been just as impressive defensively.

COMPARISON

The Royals have collected 182 hits (seven .300 hitters), this season, while the Rovers have accumulated 147 (three .300 hitters). The second place squad has scored the most runs of any team—139, the Rovers—118. Fourteen home runs is the Royals total, while the Rutland lineup has managed only three.

The defensive records are a different story, as the Rovers have given up a stingy 43 runs in their 23 games, while the Royals have allowed 71. The Royals have committed 31 errors, and have had 115 hits against them. Rutland has batted just 23 (one per game), and the pitching staff has allowed only 97 hits.

... styles attack

Wednesday, the Rovers outclassed the Royals in all departments.

Don Schneider led off the first inning with a hard-hit single down the third base line, and was followed by Richard Bullock who sacrificed him to second and got on base himself as third baseman Dennis Kransabter fumbled the bunt.

SUPPLIES POWER

Gord Runner then supplied the power, with a triple into deep left centre, driving in Schneider and Bullock, and scoring himself two plays later, when Royals first baseman Wayne Horning bobbled a peppered grounder by Jack Yamaoka.

The Rovers waited until the fifth inning for any further scoring, as Arnie Rath picked up his first of two hits to start the frame.

A fielding and throwing error by the hard luck Kransabter on a Schneider bunt scored Rath from second, and sent Schneider to third. Bullock then came up with a Texas leaguer into right field to score Schneider.

Four hits, and two errors by Royal catcher Joe Fisher in the sixth put the game out of reach for the visitors, as the home town squad put two more runs across.

While the Rovers were beating the Royals at their game, they continued their fine defensive play. As well as playing an errorless game in the field, they came up with a double play at a key moment, and were helped out by the two-hit pitching of Rath, who went the distance on the mound.

Rath, (9-2), retired the first 10 batters before the league's batting leader Bill Andrew drilled a single into centre field, then went the rest of the way giving up but one other single to pinch hitter Dave McLay in the sixth.

The veteran righthander failed to give up a walk in the seven innings, didn't allow a runner to reach second, and struck out five batters, for his most convincing win of the season.

Rick Kraushaar, (8-3), suffered the loss for the Royals, going six and two-third innings, before being relieved by Gib Loseth.

Both teams are idle until Monday, when they meet each other again, this time in Kelowna's King's Stadium, at 8 p.m.

McLain To Pay For Losing Balls

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers confirmed Wednesday that pitcher Denny McLain has been assessed an undisclosed amount for deliberately knocking balls into the stands as a fungo hitter in pre-game warmups.

McLain, who returned to the Tiger roster July 1 after a 50-day suspension for associating with known gamblers, was charged $2.50 for each ball he hit into the stands July 2.

"I don't know how many there were, but it was not very many," said the team's public relations director, Hal Middlesworth.

McLain, like other Tiger pitchers, usually takes part in the pre-game activities in which hitters loft some high fly balls to warm up the outfielders.

Tiger manager Mayo Smith said: "We're keeping count and Denny's paying for the baseballs."

Kelowna Pair Win Tennis Title

A men's doubles tennis pair from Kelowna, Neil MacPherson and Mike Roydell, captured Vernon's Hanksy Cup Sunday, a trophy awarded annually for the top men's doubles team.

Twenty-two teams were entered in three different round-robin flights, with the winners of the respective flights meeting in the finals.

MacPherson and Roydell defeated a Kamloops twosome, Mo Heran and Dr. Gur Singh, in straight sets 7-5, 6-3.

Finley Failed To Meet Prices? The Opinions Seem To Differ

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There is a difference of opinion today over whether or not Charles O. Finley failed to meet the $4,500,000 purchase price for Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League.

Trans National Communications Inc. contends Finley, owner of the baseball Oakland Athletics of the American League, failed to come up with the money at what they said was the deadline Wednesday.

Finley said the money is in the bank and that he expects to close the deal today.

In Montreal, Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL which had approved the sale of the Seals by Trans National to Finley, said: "I don't know what they're talking about."

Finley, Campbell said, has until next Wednesday, July 15, to come up with the money. He said that was the date agreed on at the NHL meeting in June.

AGREE ON MEETING

Finley and Trans National agreed on one thing, Finley had met Wednesday with Ellis E. Erdman, board chairman of Trans National.

After the meeting in San Francisco, Trans National gave out a statement in New York through Barry Mendelson, vice president of public relations.

The statement said, "Mr. Finley, meeting today's deadline, said he was short on cash and couldn't purchase the club for the $4,500,000 sale price. Trans National stated it now wants to re-establish their agreement with Jerry Seltzer, the head of Bay Area group who wanted to purchase the Seals."

Reached at the baseball game between Minnesota and the Athletics, Finley said: "If such a statement was made I would be very surprised."

Calgary Throttles Eskimos With A Balanced Offence

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders tossed some good passing into a powerful running attack to throttle Edmonton Eskimos 21-10 in a Western Football Conference exhibition game before 16,451 fans Wednesday night.

The Stampeders ran for more than 200 yards to successfully open their exhibition campaign with Hugh McKinnis, a rookie halfback from Arizona State, turning in 75 yards a touchdown.

Gerry Shaw caught a five-yard pass from Jerry Keeling for Calgary's other touchdown. Larry Robinson clipped in with 24- and 35-yard field goals, a couple of converts and a single. The Stampeders had quarter leads of 7-0, 8-3 and 18-3.

The Eskimos, 37-19 victors over British Columbia Lions in their exhibition opener Monday night, found the going tougher against Calgary.

Edmonton was ineffectual under the guidance of quarterbacks Corey Colchour and Don Trull, collecting only Dave Cutler's 49-yard field goal in the last minute of the first half. They didn't get rolling until Rusty Clark took over signal-calling duties against a second-string Calgary defence later in the fourth quarter.

Clark, from the University of Houston, completed four passes for 65 yards as Edmonton marched 80 yards to a two-yard touchdown drive by Henry King. Cutler was good with the convert.

Temper flared in the third quarter, with Rudy Linterman of Calgary and Dick Dupuis of Edmonton exchanging blows. Linterman was thrown out of the game and Calgary was assessed a 25-yard penalty for roughing.

McKinnis broke open a monotonous struggle in the last minute of the first quarter, galloping for 35 yards before Mike Law made a diving tackle to prevent a touchdown. But McKinnis came back moments later, smashing over the goal line from one yard out.

Frank Andruski set up Calgary's other touchdown, inter-

SPORT SHORTS

The University of Massachusetts, 1969 Yankee Conference football champion, will open Dartmouth's 1970 schedule at Hanover, N.H., on Sept. 26.

Dartmouth and Massachusetts began football rivalry with a scoreless tie in 1902. Since then Dartmouth has won 18 straight times.

Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota Twins won his first American League most valuable player award following the 1969 season.

Manager Earl Weaver of Baltimore Orioles was born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1930.

San Diego State's football team led the United States in total offence during 1969 with 61 touchdowns and a 331.1-yard average per game.

Queen's Baton On Its Way

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — The baton carrying the Queen's good wishes to Commonwealth Games athletes at Edinburgh, Scotland, was started on its way Wednesday from this Northwest Territories capital.

The Games open July 16. The Queen's message relay, as it is called, began in her presence at Yellowknife's grassless Pettit Park with the jogging participation of some of Canada's leading track stars.

Starting the baton on its way from the platform where the Royal Family had assembled with Canadian Harry Jerome and Abigail Hoffman and Jamaican George Kerr.

Others who took part were six athletes from the Northwest Territories: Mikellie Desnoyers and Bonnie Monkman from Hay River, Francis Drygeese of Yellowknife, Roseanne Allen and Turpin Cockney of Inuvik and Terry Hinton of Pine Point.

TAKEN TO PLACE

Passing of the baton continued along a route to Yellowknife airport where it was put aboard a commercial airliner after being delivered to the top of a ramp flanked by two Mounties and a guard of honor made up of guides, scouts and cadets.

The flight captain's acceptance of the baton concluded the ceremonial participation in the relay. Similar ceremonies will take place in Edmonton and Winnipeg prior to the baton's crossing the Atlantic.

Royal participation in the ceremony was less than 10 minutes.

The Queen, Prince Philip, Prince Charles and Princess Anne were driven to the park from the airport on their return from visits to the communities of Fort Smith and Pine Point, both in the Great Slave Lake area.

The Royal Family entered the park through a roped-off passage and proceeded to the stand. After a brief chat with Jerome, Kerr and Miss Hoffman, the baton was started on its way.

Hart Still Able To Pump Wiends A Big Bat For S.F.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jim Hart is alive and well and wielding a big bat for San Francisco Giants.

The once-feared hitting star, sent to the Giants farm team at Phoenix earlier in the season, returned to the National League club Tuesday and enjoyed one of his finest games Wednesday night against Atlanta Braves after rebounding from a shoulder injury.

Called up to replace retired third baseman Jim Davenport, Hart equaled a 56-year-old league record by driving across six runs in one inning as the Giants pounded Atlanta 13-0.

Elsewhere, New York Mets opened up a 1 1/2-game East-Division lead over Pittsburgh Pirates by beating St. Louis Cardinals 7-5 as the Pirates fell 2-0 to Philadelphia Phillies. San Diego Padres defeated Cincinnati Reds 3-1, Los Angeles Dodgers edged Houston Astros 6-5 and Chicago Cubs split a twin bill with Montreal, winning the first game 5-1 and dropping the nightcap 5-4 to the Expos.

"It's great to be back," said Hart after his Wednesday night performance, which included a single, a double, a triple and a home run in five at bats after the league record for runs batted in in one inning was set May 18, 1911, by Fred C. Merkle of the old New York Giants. The major league record is seven, by Edward Cartwright of St. Louis in 1890 when the American League was known as the American Association.

DROVE IN SEVEN
The 28-year-old Hart drove in seven runs Wednesday, the other coming in the third before he paced the Giants' 11-run fifth inning.

He homered with two on in his first trip to the plate in the fifth, then came back to smash a bases-loaded triple.

The Mets racked up their sixth straight victory, longest winning streak for the defending world champions this season. Rookie Ken Singleton's third-inning homer with two on put the Mets out front to stay after St. Louis had gone ahead 3-0.

Deron Johnson's ninth-inning homer with one on, his 16th of the year, broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Philadelphia's Rick Wise and Pittsburgh's Steve Blass.

Cincinnati's four-game victory string was snapped by the Padres, but the Reds still maintain an 8 1/2-game West Division lead. San Diego's runs came in the third with Clarence Gaston and Ollie Brown hitting run-scoring singles.

The Dodgers exploded for five runs in the ninth to beat Houston with Maury Wills' pinch double driving in a pair.

The Cubs' first-game victory over Montreal was highlighted by two-run homers by Ron Santo and Billy Williams. John Boccabella's pinch single drove in two runs in the eighth to give the Expos the nightcap triumph.

B.C. PeeWees Take Easy Win

TORONTO (CP) — British Columbia and Ontario swamped their opponents Tuesday in opening games of the Canadian pee-wee lacrosse championship.

New Westminster Salmonbellies dumped Saskatchewan 22-1 while Burnaby Noburns whitewashed Manitoba 21-0.

Teams from Ontario had similar successes as Brampton blanked Nova Scotia 16-0 and Toronto Tordale beat Hamilton 21-3.

Shawn Akerman, Brian Cowie and Gord Hardman had three goals each for New Westminster while Mike Krogan scored the long Saskatchewan tally.

Trevino Has Early Lead In Open's Second Round

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Lee Trevino of El Paso, Tex., still fuming about a decision made Wednesday, went out today and stormed into the early lead in the second round of the British open golf championship with a pair of 66s for a 138 total.

Trevino's eight-under-par total put him in the clubhouse with a one-stroke lead over Tony Jacklin of Britain, the defending champion and recent U.S. Open winner who followed an opening five-under-par 67 with a disappointing 70 for 137.

Both Jacklin and Trevino had

Wright Ready For Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Billy Wright Jr. of Edmonton, Ontario Open golf champion, is ready for the Manitoba leg of the Open trail.

"I always play well here," said Wright prior to the opening round today of the three-day Manitoba Open at Pine Ridge Golf and Country Club. "I won a Carling World spot here, remember."

Wright is one of the 66 pros and 69 amateurs entered in the Manitoba Open being played at the 6,572-yard, par 72 layout just east of Winnipeg.

The pros are gunning for top prize of $1,700 in the total purse of $8,500 while the top amateur will take home the Harold Eidsvig Memorial Trophy.

The 54-hole event will be reduced to the top 60 and ties for the final round Saturday.

A field of entries will be minus the defending champion, Mike Reesor of Palm Beach, Fla., who, by virtue of his showing in the Canadian Open last weekend, has secured an exempt entry in the Milwaukee Open.

DOYLE BACK AGAIN

But the defending amateur champion, Jimmy Doyle, of Winnipeg, is back for another try. Besides the Eidsvig trophy, the amateurs from Manitoba are seeking playoff berths for the province's Willingdon Cup team.

It's the second time in five years the Open has been played at Pine Ridge. The first time, in 1968, Alvie Thompson of Toronto won the event.

Three-time Manitoba Open champion, Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont., is back for another try and he thinks an even par 216 could capture top money.

Host professional Bill Whibley considers a two-under-par 214 the winning round, or a "222 it's windy."

Last year's Canadian Professional Golfers' Association champion, Bob Cox Jr. of Vancouver, has his problems this year. He said he's off his game from tee to green.

"It used to be on the green I was having trouble. Now I'm OK with the putter, but the rest of my game has gone sour. I've never been in such a prolonged slump."

Odds Stacked Against City In BB Tourney

Host team Kelowna appears to have the odds stacked against them from the outset as they have drawn defending provincial champion Trail in the opening round of the nine team, B.C. district five Babe Ruth baseball championship which begins Sunday at Elks' Stadium.

The five-day long, double knockout tournament, a preliminary to the B.C. finals which this year will be held in Cowichan in late July, is for boys 14 and 15 years of age.

Trail, which regularly produces a contending team, won the title last year when the event was held in Kelowna.

The two teams, the probable 1-2 favorites, meet in the fourth of five scheduled games Sunday. They will square off at 5 p.m., in what may be a preview of the final game Thursday, should both clubs win each ensuing game.

In other first round games, Quesnel meets Vernon at 9 a.m., Penitence faces Prince George in an 11 a.m. encounter, Grand Forks takes on Kamloops at 2:30 p.m., and in the final game of the day, which will follow the Kelowna-Trail contest, Rutland goes against the winner of game one, either Quesnel or Vernon.

Tribe's Trick Hard To Swallow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oakland took a dose of Minnesota muscle but it wasn't nearly as hard to swallow as the turnabout trick Cleveland pulled on Washington.

A homer and three singles by Tony Oliva led Minnesota Twins to an 8-6 victory over the Athletics Wednesday night, completing a three-game series sweep.

And light-hitting Buddy Bradford walloped a grand-slam homer in the eighth inning that brought Cleveland Indians from behind for a 6-5 victory over Washington Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday night, Baltimore Orioles roared from behind to beat New York Yankees 9-8. Chicago White Sox nipped Milwaukee Brewers 2-1. Detroit Tigers shaded Boston Red Sox 3-2 and California Angels edged Kansas City Royals 3-2.

Oliva provided a major part of the Minnesota offense against Oakland and the Twins needed all the runs they got.

The Athletics knocked out Jim Perry with a ninth-inning rally that included Dave Duncan's three-run homer. But Ron Peranowski came out of the bullpen to nail down Perry's 13th victory.

Oliva had three singles, a two-run homer and a sacrifice fly, driving in four runs and scoring two.

HITS FIRST GRAND SLAM

Bradford, who carried a .189 batting average and two homers into Cleveland's game against Washington, exploded for his first career grand slam in the eighth inning as the Indians wiped out a 5-1 Senators' lead.

It was Cleveland's fourth straight victory over the Senators.

Frank Robinson's second homer of the game started a three-run Baltimore rally in the ninth inning that moved the Orioles past the Yankees. Don Buford, who had opened the game with a homer for the Birds, capped the winning rally with a two-out, two-run single.

The Yankees had come from behind to take the lead on eighth-inning homers by John Ellis and Curt Blefary.

Detroit took over second place in the AL East with Gates Brown's ninth-inning pinch sacrifice fly driving in the winning run. Billy Conigliaro's RBI single tied it for Boston in the ninth.

Chicago pushed two runs across in the eighth inning to break a scoreless tie as Tommy John out-pitched Milwaukee's Al Downing.

Jim Fregosi beat a throw to the plate on Ken McMullen's bounce, delivering California's winning run against Kansas City in the ninth inning after the Royals had rallied for two runs in the top of the ninth to tie the score.

Graybeard Extends Her Lead In Victoria To Maui Race

VICTORIA (CP) — Graybeard extended her lead in poor winds Wednesday in the Victoria to Maui yacht race and African Star moved up to fourth spot from 11th as her lonely tactics began to pay off.

African Star, a 35-foot cutter skippered by D. M. Fryer of Seattle, caught better winds as a result of sailing further to the south than other boats, avoiding a high pressure system in the Pacific.

African Star had a run of 103 miles between Tuesday's and Wednesday's position checks, the same distance as Graybeard, a 71-foot ketch which can probably run twice the distance of the smaller boat in identical conditions.

Graybeard, Lol Killam's ketch from Vancouver, extended her lead to 63 miles over Oriole, the 91-foot Canadian forces ketch, as the pack struggled with low winds caused by the high pressure system.

WIND GUSTS
From the escort vessel came this report: "The wind is at three miles an hour—gusting to four."

Graybeard was 1,065 miles from Victoria, where the 2,300-mile race started July 1. It was still too early to estimate arrival time. Porpoise III's winning time in 1968 was 15 days, 26 hours, 55 minutes.

Soon after the start, Fryer took African Star away from the pack, staying closer to the U.S. coast than other boats, going further south and then heading on a converging course with better wind.

Celeste, G. W. Scrimshaw's 58-foot yawl from Vancouver, started some uncooped tactics of her own Wednesday, sailing almost due west while the other boats headed southwest for Hawaii.

It appeared that Scrimshaw was trying to sail through the high pressure system to meet a low pressure system moving in from the west—seeking storm or near-storm conditions with high winds.

Celeste dropped to 11th spot from third but appeared to be gambling on being the first to take advantage of the low pressure system, perhaps getting its high winds today.

Rasathugue of Santa Cruz, Calif., plagued by radio problems, did not report a position for the third day. She was 19th when last heard from Sunday.

At Wednesday's check, this was the order: (Tuesday's position bracketed)

1. Graybeard (1); 2. Oriole (2); 3. Gabrielle II, (4); 4. African Star (11); 5. Aukele (10); 6. Porpoise III (7); 7. Long Gone II (13); 8. Whales Tail (10); 9. Culora (12); 10. Scotch Mist (8); 11. Sabrina (18); 21. Puffin (11); 22. Unreported—Rasathugue (19 Sunday).

Vernon Defeats Lowly Labs 6-1

The Vernon Kal-Hotel of the Kelowna and District senior B softball league relied on five Kelowna Labatt errors and a five-run outburst in the fourth inning Wednesday, to defeat the last-place club 6-1 in Kelowna.

The Kals, who managed only two hits off losing pitcher Ray Heywood, moved four points ahead of fourth-place Willow Inn Willows with the win, their 11th of the season.

Heywood stayed out of trouble until the fourth, walking one batter, and striking out three. In the fourth, Russ Keckalo led off the inning with a base on balls, scored on an error by Norm Robinson at shortstop, while winning pitcher Keith May and second baseman Jim Moro collected the only Vernon hits, driving in four runs. Ken Hehn relieved Heywood.

May picked up his seventh win of the season.

Carvings In Ivory A Tale Of Patience

By URSULA SURTEES

The incredible patience of peoples of the Orient is legendary.

Often the extent of this virtue is overlooked until one is confronted with a collection such as we now have on display. Here time and infinite patience have been lavishly expended. We have on exhibit for the remainder of July, some truly exquisite pieces of Oriental art. The carvings and embroidery are very fine.

Among the items are a set of seven ivory figures, each one perfect to the last detail. In the largest one, carved from one piece of elephant ivory, the artist has taken advantage of the natural curve of the tusk to give a graceful bend to the feminine figure represented.

Her face is serene and smooth, though her slightly parted lips small even teeth are visible. Her garments fall in ivory folds around her shoulders down to her feet, which are bare, and complete to the last toenail. In one hand she holds a basket of flowers into which a tall exotic bird is peering. The whole effect is of a lovely cool gracious goddess, completely untouchable.

The smallest figure in direct contrast, is a jolly, fat little fellow, not at all above partaking of the good things around him if he is expression and figure are to be believed. A beaming smile and a smooth round gleaming ivory belly are the most notable things in this little carving. The fact that he is sitting in what, to the Occidental eye is a somewhat uncomfortable position doesn't seem to detract from his good humour at all.

The other five pieces are equally perfect in design and execution. The variety of effects achieved in the one material is quite remarkable, from the smooth skinlike effect of the faces, to the stiff looking brocade material, to soft drapery and elaborate coiffure. Only unhurried skill and a thorough knowledge of the medium could produce these effects.

Ivory carving has long been an achievement of the East, and the skill of the Chinese and Japanese have never been surpassed. Whole landscapes have been carved in miniature from one slab of ivory. Even in very ancient times, in the days of pre-history, ivory has been admired and used. Pieces of Mammoth ivory have been found with primitive figures engraved on them. In later times Egyptian ivory carvings have been discovered, believed to have done in the time of Moses. Ivories dating to 950 BC have been recovered from Nineveh, and the Bible mentions Solomon importing ivory.

We are grateful to Tom Hamilton and his daughter Gail, for allowing us to display part of their collection, and to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wilnot for the loan of the set of ivory figures.

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

UNABLE to talk a canny New Hampshire storekeeper into buying his line of goods, a glib salesman tried to bribe him by offering him a bottle of champagne. "I never take bribes from salesmen," said the storekeeper proudly. "If it will ease your conscience," proposed the salesman, "I'll sell you the champagne for ten cents." "That's more like it," nodded the storekeeper. "If that's your price, I'll take six bottles."

There's a well-known Civil War buff in Richmond who maintains stoutly that every time the redoubtable General Stonewall Jackson became involved in a violent battle, he smoked on a lemon to calm his nerves. "Where," asked a skeptic, "did the General come by this lemon?" "Nothing to it," puffed the narrator. "He just went to an expensive restaurant and ordered tea—with cream."

John Galbreath, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and owner of two Kentucky Derby winners, says, "There's one thing nicer about winning a Kentucky Derby than rooting your ball team to a world championship. You don't have to feed the horse that won any more the day after the race than you fed him the day before the race—and, furthermore, you don't have to sign him up for the next year!"

No One Answer To Crib Deaths

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: We recently had a death in our family, a baby boy 11 weeks old. He died due to asphyxiation and we have heard that there is a disorder which causes babies to die when they are nine to 12 weeks old. It is called thymus and is inherited. We would like to know more about this.—Mrs. R.

These are tragic deaths—and there are from 10,000 to 20,000 like that one every year in the United States alone.

They are called variously the "sudden death syndrome," "crib deaths," or "cot deaths," and a great deal of effort is going into the study of them.

There is no single answer. Many years ago, most of them were attributed to "smothering," but this is pretty much discounted now. Even a blanket falling over a baby's face will not shut off enough air to be fatal.

Later the theory was advanced that a disorder of the thymus gland was responsible, but this idea also has been discarded, because detailed post-mortem examinations are revealing more tangible causes.

One is infection, and this is highest from about November to March—the time when the common cold and related respiratory ailments are most prevalent.

What can be a relatively minor affliction to an adult or to a larger child can be devastating to an infant. Such infections can cause swelling of the throat and larynx, and since the airways are so small in a baby, it doesn't take much swelling to obstruct breathing.

Various forms of pneumonia are being identified in the lungs of other babies—they haven't yet acquired the strength and resistance to fight off such infections. Further, such infections can develop with such speed in a very small baby that death can occur even though the child has not appeared to be ill, or at least only faintly so, a few hours earlier.

These facts may satisfactorily explain to people why hospitals are often so strict about visiting newborn babies.

In other instances brain disorders, including meningitis and hemorrhages, have been found. Not significance: these sudden deaths, which usually occur under the age of 16 weeks, are sad and numerous, and efforts are being made to prevent them.

—but no single cause is responsible and no single preventive is in sight at present.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Wanting to become a vegetarian, I am curious about finding a suggested diet. The iron and protein content of meat, fish, and fowl seem fairly easy to substitute, but various people for one reason or another have tried to discourage me from joining this sect. Any information would be appreciated.—D.M.

The protein is the important element. If the sect you have in mind permits eggs, they are rich in protein. So is cheese. Milk has some. Fair quantities can be extracted from nuts, soy beans, and a few similar vegetables.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What does the word trapeziocarpometacarpal mean in relation to arthritis?—Mrs. T.R.

That tongue-twister refers to the bones of the wrist and long bones of the hand or hands.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Should certain foods be avoided in controlling rheumatoid arthritis?—Mrs. H.H.

No, diet has no bearing on it—except that you will be much more comfortable if you avoid overweight.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, two years old, eats with his left hand. My husband is trying to break him by putting the fork in his right hand. If he takes the fork in his left hand, my husband takes the fork and hits his left hand with it. Should he try to break the boy or just let him go left-handed?—W.M.

Change of hand dominance is not recommended. By all means let the little fellow use whichever hand is natural. "Breaking" him makes no more sense than trying to make your husband eat with his left hand.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been having pains in my ribs, and the doctor said I have a floating rib and am also seven pounds overweight. Could you explain a floating rib and what causes it?—M.B.

We all have floating ribs—there are 12 ribs on each side of the chest, the first 10 attached to the breast bone with cartilage. The lower two on each side are not attached and are called floating ribs. If you are thin enough, you can feel the tips.

Floating ribs do not cause pain; there must be something more involved in your case.

Opening lead—king of clubs.

Bridge is a game of deduction rather than of mathematics. Declarer must try to figure out the composition of the unseen hand, and once he has succeeded in doing so it usually becomes child's play to accomplish the best possible result.

Here is a fine example of the art of good card reading. West leads the king of clubs and continues with the ace. Declarer ruffs in dummy and loses a heart finesse to the king. West returns a heart, won by South with the jack.

Declarer now plays the ace and another spade, finessing the ten. When the finesse succeeds, South discards all his diamonds on the spades and makes five hearts doubled. Without the spade finesse he would go down one.

Now how in the world can South possibly be smart enough to finesse the spade? Is it just a lucky shot, or is there a sound basis for it?

The answer is that South knows the finesse will succeed. He reaches this conclusion by a dramatic but logical interpretation of the bidding and play by the opponents.

Let's see what South knows about West's hand after trick five. The only positive knowledge he has of West's length in any suit is that West has two hearts.

But South can also reasonably assume that West would have returned a diamond at trick four instead of a heart—if he had one—and the failure to do this proves he is void of diamonds.

Since East raised clubs at one point in the bidding, showing at least three-card support, it follows that West—who is marked with two hearts and no diamonds—was bound to have started with no more than seven clubs and hence must have exactly four spades. No other distribution can possibly exist.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Mixed planetary influences will prevail on Friday. Do not expect much where financial interests are concerned, and do watch the budget. There are indications of job advancement, however, even though rewards may not be immediate.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that even if, in recent weeks, your material interests have remained in something of a status quo, you need have no concern. Things will brighten on both job and financial fronts—and soon! But get busy now. You are presently in a period which should stimulate good ideas for advancement and, if you map out a practical course and follow it consistently, you should see the first of a series of gratifying results.

suits during a highly generous planetary cycle lasting from Aug. 1 through Nov. 15. Do not hope to achieve monetary gains through speculation, however. In fact, neither you nor any other Cancerian should speculate for the balance of 1970—but especially in November and December. Next good periods for progress along both career and financial lines: The first two weeks of January, the latter half of February, in mid-March and throughout May.

Where personal matters are concerned, you should have an unusually happy year domestically speaking, with especially beneficent stars blessing health and home between now and Aug. 15 and during the last four months of 1970. The next three weeks will be highly propitious for sentimental matters; also, late September, November, next February, and May. Don't take a possible "romance" in December too seriously, however. It may be "exciting" but could prove disillusioning in the long run. Most auspicious periods for travel: August, October, next January, April and May.

A child born on this day could succeed at law, in medicine or psychology; will have extremely high standards and principles, but will incline to fret unduly if others will not, or can not, live up to them.

ENERGY STUDY

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia Energy Board has been asked to chart the province's energy requirements for the next 25 years. Premier W. A. C. Bennett, among the study, indicated that nuclear power energy sources will not be included in the study. He said his government is concerned about the "great disadvantages" of nuclear power stations.

Doukhobor Camp Resident Dies Following A Fight

CHILLIWACK (CP)—William Konklin, 55, a resident of the Doukhobor camp near Agassiz, died in hospital Wednesday following a fight at the camp Tuesday night. A 61-year-old man, also a resident of the camp was held for questioning.

UNDER WHEELS
VANCOUVER (CP)—A youth was killed Wednesday when he fell or dived beneath the wheels of a freight train. The youth, about 20, carried no identification.

COUGARS PROTECTED
VICTORIA (CP)—Glen Smith, chief of game management in the Fish and Wildlife Branch, said cougars will get more protection in the future. He said bags of non-resident hunters in some districts will be limited.

DIES OF INJURIES
VANCOUVER (CP)—Olavi Parikka, 38, of Vancouver died Wednesday of injuries suffered in a car accident Saturday at Pender Harbor, about 40 miles northwest of here. Death was believed due to a ruptured spleen.

MAN JAILED
VANCOUVER (CP)—Bienvenido Anunciacion, a 34-year-old Filipino, was jailed Wednesday on charges of failing to report to immigration authorities and remaining in Canada by stealth. He was given concurrent one-month sentences on each charge.

GIVEN TWO YEARS
PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Eric Stanley Dotchin, 29, of Prince George was sentenced to two years Wednesday for trafficking in a restricted drug. He was one of 17 persons charged following a two-month police undercover operation here.

Doctor Has His Own Plans For Immunization Funds

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Gerald Bonham, senior city health officer, said Wednesday he'll appeal for a philanthropist to donate $500,000 for a German measles immunization program if governments don't do it. Health Minister Ralph Lofmark said the provincial government won't conduct such a program at this time unless Ottawa pays for it. Prime Minister Trudeau's office said there might be a statement today. The $500,000 figure, doctors estimate, would cover immunization of the 384,000 British Columbia youngsters aged 1-12. The B.C. government has started a $108,000 program, which, doctors say will cover only school children under 11.

Federal authorities are immunizing Indian children.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett asked Mr. Trudeau to earmark for health uses $7,000,000 of Ottawa's planned $10,000,000 grant to the province for its 1971 centennial. Mr. Bennett cited public demand.

Doctors say British Columbia has an epidemic of the disease, rubella. Mr. Lofmark says it isn't yet an epidemic. Incidence is rising and doctors expect it to continue through 1971.

The Metropolitan Vancouver Board of Health has estimated that already 200 B.C. women will give birth to deformed babies, starting in November, because of the disease.

VET SPECIALIZES IN WILD ANIMALS

PLEASANT HILL, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Jim Naviaux is a veterinarian who specializes in horses but once fixed up a snake which had a broken back. Didn't charge him a dime, either.

He also has treated wounded possums, foxes, raccoons, owls, seabirds and other free-roaming creatures which lacked the wherewithal to meet a doctor's bill.

He figures mankind owes something to the living non-human things injured by today's technology.

Dr. Naviaux, 38, is the founder and sole staff of the National Wildlife Health Foundation.

The foundation is two years old and so far, the doctor says, running it has cost him about $3,000. He says he hasn't had any help from the other animal lovers of the world, and he has a wife and four sons to support.

"The trouble is," said Dr. Jim in an interview Tuesday, "I'm just not an organizer."

He added: "It all started about two years ago when a friend found a little fawn on the side of a road. It had been knocked unconscious by a car and had a broken leg and brain concussion."

For months he and his wife and sons nursed the deer back to health. Last year, they released it to the wild again.

BPWC Elect B.C. Women To Executive

HALIFAX (CP)—Charlotte VanDine of Montreal was elected president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs here Wednesday.

Miss VanDine succeeds Margaret Ashdown of Toronto and will hold office for two years.

Other officers elected were: Beth Aulin of Kamloops, B.C., first vice-president; Kathleen Score, London, Ont., Ruth Adams, Victoria, B.C., and Mathilde deBonville, Quebec City, vice-presidents; and Joan Wilson, honorary secretary-treasurer.

Provincial presidents elected were: Alberta, Helen Verdin, Edmonton; British Columbia, Lois Hagen, Grand Forks; Manitoba, Jean Mitchell, Winnipeg; Newfoundland, Elizabeth Holland, St. John's; New Brunswick, Irma Webb, Moncton; Nova Scotia, Jessie Fraser, Liverpool; Prince Edward Island, Ethel J. Sutherland, Charlottetown; Quebec, Marcelle Savard, Chicoutimi; Saskatchewan, Betty Sexty, Regina.

his style:

Fancy, heated pools may be o.k. for some folks. But there are still two great, natural ways to beat the heat in a hurry. One's the old swimming hole. And the other's Old Style Beer. Don't let that new, easy-open can fool you. It's still brewed the slow, old-fashioned way for full, refreshing flavour. And still making quite a splash with men who care about their beer.
